LAWRENCE AND MRS. GRUNER GIVEN 30 DAYS

St. Louisans Sentenced to the House of Correction in Chicago by Judge of Moral's Court.

WILL APPLY FOR WRIT OF ERROR

Get Months' Stay of Execution—Charge Resulted From Arrest of Pair in Hotel.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Thomas Lawrence of St. Louis, vice president of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., and Mrs. Julia Gruner, also of St. Louis, were today sentenced to 30 days each in the House of Correction by Judge William Helander of the Moral's Court. The charge of which they were convicted grew out of the arrest of Lawrence and Mrs. Gruner in the Lake Shore Drive Hotel here, Aug. 16. The arrest was caused by Mrs. Lawrence, who followed her husband here from St. Louis.

The court's first announcement was the sentence of imprisonment was mandatory, and would not permit of appeal. Later, on the plea of counsel for the pair, the Judge waived and granted a stay of execution for 30 days, pending an appeal. The two were released on bonds of $1000 each. The bail was furnished in the form of two $500 bonds.

A second case, on another charge, pending against the pair, was not affected by the conviction in the first case. Their hearing on the second charge is set for Oct. 30.

Legal Point Raised.
A point raised in the Lawrence-Gruner case, a few days ago, was that the act of marriage between Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence, the complaining witness, was not legally established. The court held that in statements made to the court by Lawrence, the fact that the complaining witness was his lawful wife had been admitted.

Mrs. Lawrence was not in court today, but her lawyer, Henry New, was present.

The Lawrence-Gruner case was based upon after Judge Helander had heard about 30 other cases, including those of several women who are frequently in the court.

Maximum Punishment.
The principal testimony was given by Police Sergeant John McVeigh and Patrolman M. J. Fielan. Another witness was Judge Herbert Immenhausen, to whom the application for a warrant was made, and who accompanied the policemen to the hotel.

After the witnesses had told of the circumstances of the double arrest, Attorney Clarence Pipher, representing Lawrence and Mrs. Gruner, had the privilege of cross-examining them, but declined to do so. He moved to dismiss the case on the ground that the testimony was hearsay and was not relevant. Judge Helander overruled this and admitted into the record of the case the statement, termed a confession, which was made by Lawrence to the policemen. Judge Immenhausen and Mrs. Lawrence.

WEALTHY REALTY MAN SHOT IN HOME OF DIVORCEE

Philadelphia Woman Told Police Maurice E. Felt, Who Is Near Death, Shot Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—Maurice E. Felt, wealthy real estate operator, who lived here and died in a hospital today as the result of being shot in the head while in the home of Miss Lillian M. Emmanuel in the fashionable Germantown section, last night. Physicians said he had only a slight chance of recovery.

Miss Emmanuel, who was held as a material witness, declared that Felt had shot himself, but the police have been unable to obtain any further details.

Miss Emmanuel is a divorcee, the mother of a 2-year-old child, and is understood to live alone, the child and a maid being the only other occupants of the house.

Felt is married and the father of a 10-year-old son. Mrs. Felt was notified of the shooting and hurried to the hospital. The injured man's father is seriously ill in Atlantic City and efforts were made to keep news of his son's condition from him.

U. S. Got $5,000,000 in Dry Fines.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Solicitor of the Treasury handled 29,620 cases involving violation of the national prohibition act in the fiscal year ending June 30, and collected in fines and compromises more than $5,000,000. In these cases, Announcements of the Solicitor's work was made in his annual report today, which showed that 629 of the cases resulted in offers to compromise. Of this number, 338 were accepted, the Government collecting fines in them of $3,000,000; 11 were rejected and 120 still were pending at the beginning of the current year.

SHENANDOAH HAD NO PARACHUTES, MITCHELL CHARGES

"Like Sending a Ship to Sea Without Life Boats," He Says, Blaming Heads of Navy for Disaster.

JOURNEY "IN DIRECT VIOLATION OF LAW"

Denounces Arrangements for PN-9 Flight as the Work of "Bungling Amateurs."

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Coming today to what he termed the "destructive" portion of his criticism of the Army and Navy services, Col. William Mitchell told the President's air inquiry board there never had been a public hearing on aircraft matters at which officers appearing as witnesses had not been subjected to coercion from their superiors.

He did not except even the present hearing, though he admitted it had produced the frankest testimony he had heard. The "direct coercion" of the past, he said, had given way to a form of "indirect coercion."

Asked what he meant by that statement, he pointed to the presence of a stenographer for the General Staff of the Army, who was taking down the testimony of witnesses.

"That sort of thing," he said, "has its effect on junior officers who come here."

"Does it coerce you?" asked Congressman Vinson of the board. "Not one bit," replied Mitchell. The tally got a round of applause from Mitchell's partisans in the audience, who crowded the large hearing room in the House Office Building.

"They take down your testimony at hearings," continued Mitchell, "and pick out bits of it and send to you for an explanation of what you mean. Why, the chief of the Air Service (Major General Patrick), had no sooner given his testimony here, than he was called upon by the War Department to send a complete estimate of what his project would cost."

Vinson suggested that perhaps the General Staff had its stenographer at the hearing simply because it wanted to save the expense of buying a copy of the official transcript.

"That may be," said Mitchell, "but it works out the way I have said."

Assails Shenandoah Journey.
Departing from the manuscript, which he followed yesterday, Mitchell today dropped a series of verbal bombs against the War and Navy departments. His statements bristled with charges of the same character as those in his public statement, soon after the Shenandoah disaster, when he declared that the conduct of military aviation was marked by "gross negligence."

Experience has shown, he said, that it was impossible for the Army and the Navy, together or separately, to develop a proper system of air defense.

Mitchell declared the sending of the Shenandoah across the mountains to the Middle West was in violation of a law requiring that ships, sent from a land base, should be operated by the Army. If there was work to be done by airmen in the Middle West, he added, it should have been done by the Army operating from Scott Field, at Belleville.

WILSON'S PICTURE SOON TO APPEAR ON POSTAGE STAMP

Department to Act in Conformity With the Desire of President Coolidge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The information was volunteered at the White House yesterday that the Postoffice Department, in conformity with the desire of President Coolidge, soon would issue a new stamp bearing the likeness of Woodrow Wilson.

It was made known for the President that he had seen statements in the newspapers about requests for a Wilson stamp and had looked up the history of stamp issues with a view to following precedent.

The President, it was indicated, wanted no unseemly controversy over a Wilson stamp and regarded the question as wholly outside the field of politics. His spokesman pointed out that the first Grover Cleveland stamp was issued in the Coolidge administration and explained that the Harding memorial issue was inspired by the fact that President Harding died when in office.

The decision of President Coolidge runs counter to a recent expression by Postmaster-General New, who, in replying to a request of Wilson memorial organizations for a stamp in honor of the war President, said it was customary to allow a dozen or more years to elapse after the death of a President before placing his likeness on a stamp.

RELIABILITY TOUR PLANES ARRIVE AT ST. JOSEPH

Fokker Is First to Make Landing After Flight From Omaha, Neb.

By the Associated Press. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 30.—The Fokker plane, first of the 17 entered in the Commercial Reliability air tour, landed at Scottsbluff, here at 10:30 o'clock this morning, exactly on schedule. The plane, flying from Fort Crook at Omaha, encountered no difficulties and made a pretty landing.

All save two of the 17 planes arrived on schedule time. The Curtiss Carrier Pigeon started late and the Junker No. 6 was forced down north of St. Joseph, but the flyers encountered rains all the way from Omaha.

Flies Due to Arrive at Lambert Field at 3 P. M. Tomorrow.

Fifteen planes of the Ford Reliability Tour are due to arrive at Lambert-St. Louis Field from Kansas City at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Members of the Flying Club of St. Louis, acting as four officials, will check the loads of each plane and attend to servicing the ships. The flyers will have luncheon at the Flying Club clubhouse on the field. The ships will hop off on their next jump Friday morning.

Two Army Flyers Injured in Crash.
By the Associated Press. HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Lieuts. Perry Wainor and G. C. Graves of Mitchell Field were severely injured today when their plane crashed here. Both officers were removed to Huntington Hospital. They had suffered fractures and severe burns, resulting from flaming gasoline. Engine trouble was believed to have caused the accident. The plane crashed from a comparatively low altitude.

During their marriage Marks settled large sums of money on the present Mrs. Dornblaser and also gave her her present home, Lock Lodge, at Yorktown Heights, near Poughkeepsie, N. Y. At the time of their divorce he gave her $300,000 and later $100,000 in trust for "good behavior," and on condition that she should not "annoy" him within a five-year period.

This good behavior pact, Marks later alleged, was broken, first by the Associated Press. Continued on Page 3, Column 7.

"POISON PEN," LETTER CAUSES ARREST OF SINGER

Indictment Accuses Woman, Four Times Married, of Sending Missive to Third Husband.

SHE ALSO IS SUED FOR DEFAMATION

Sister, Living in Joplin, Arrested on Charge of Being One Who Actually Mailed Letter.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Lydia Locke Dornblaser, singer, who has had four husbands, has been indicted, charged with sending a "poison pen" letter to Arthur Hudson Marks, millionaire tire manufacturer and head of the Skinner Ogan Co. Marks was her third husband.

Immediately after her arrest yesterday and release in bail of $400 the Federal authorities announced that Mrs. Frances Adams, a sister of Mrs. Dornblaser, had been arrested in Joplin, Mo., where she was held on the charge of being the actual sender of the letter. Mrs. Adams, wife of a well-known busier as man of Joplin, denied knowing the contents of the letter, but was held in $2000 bail as a necessary witness.

It was also announced, this time by attorneys for Marks, that suits for $250,000 for defamation of character had been started by Mrs. Marks, formerly Mrs. Margaret Dornblaser. The attorneys said summons for four officials, served on Mrs. Dornblaser, Max D. Steuer, lawyer for the singer, said last night he knew nothing about any such suit.

The indictment, returned before Federal Judge Estes, charges Mrs. Dornblaser, whose second husband was Orville Harold, the singer, with causing an obscene letter to be sent through the mails to Marks at his home here.

Letter Not Revealed.

The text of the alleged "poison" missive was not set forth in the indictment and was declared by United States Attorney Buckner to be so scurrilous that he refused to allow it to be seen. It was mailed to Marks from Bellefontaine, O., July 30 last, and was learned, attacks the character of Mrs. Marks.

The envelope containing the letter was typed, but the letter itself was penned in long hand. It was admitted by Marks' lawyer that the letter was not in Mrs. Dornblaser's handwriting.

It was said lawyers for Marks discovered the mailing of the letter was simultaneous with the return to Joplin of Mrs. Adams from a visit to her sister here. Mrs. Adams is charged, gave the note to a public stenographer on a train before reaching the Bellefontaine station, with the request that he put a stamp on it and mail it from there.

The request for a stamp, it was said, recalled the incident to the stenographer when he was questioned later by Marks' investigators, sent West to check up on the letter. His description of the woman, who asked him to mail it, was said also to have corresponded with that of Mrs. Adams and the latter was arrested 10 days ago.

She is now free on bail. Postmaster Dornblaser's fourth husband, Harry, was not in court yesterday. At the time of their marriage, last December, he was described as a bond broker and also has been described as her private secretary.

Mrs. Dornblaser, attended by Steuer, pleaded not guilty. Assistant United States Attorney Adler said he would move for trial within 10 days.

While attorneys for both sides indulged in recriminations, one challenged fact stood out yesterday.

LOW NECKS AND SHORT SKIRTS BARRED BY POPE

Women Entering Churches in Rome in "Indecent Dress" Will Be Ejected.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Sept. 30.—The warfare against immodest dress in the churches reached a decisive stage today, when the Central Holy Year Committee issued a circular to the directors of pilgrimages, notifying them that all women, found in the churches not conforming to the rules for proper garb, will be ejected. It is understood the circular was issued at the behest of Pope Pius.

The regulations prescribe, the women must have their heads covered; their clothing must be modest, "reasonably long, closed up to the collar, and the sleeves must come at least below the elbow."

The circular says that, notwithstanding "repeated preliminary warnings by the Episcopal and priests and the exhortations of the Holy Father, one still sees entering the churches persons nonconforming to the dignity of these sacred places, since they dress in a manner offensive to the primitive sense of natural reserve and to the scandal of pious souls."

"Women have been seen, though fortunately rarely, dressed in such indecent and scandalous dress—it does not stop even at the threshold of God's temple, but seeks to pollute the most austere manifestations, such as Holy Year, which should be a year of penitence and prayer—has constrained the ecclesiastical authorities to intensify their vigilance and redouble their rigorous application of the impartial orders."

MAN'S DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO ACCIDENTAL STRANGULATION

Head of Henry Steucker, 67, Had Slipped Through V-Shaped Portion of Ornamental Bed.

An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death of Henry Steucker, 67 years old, who is believed to have been accidentally strangled in his room at 117 North Ninth street, today.

Steucker, an employee in the city Street Department, was let out when the new administration came in, and since then he had been doing odd jobs for Mrs. Olive Newman, who conducts a rooming house at the Ninth street address. A fellow roomer, at 8:35 o'clock this morning, found Steucker's body, the head of which had slipped through a V-shaped portion of his ornamental brass bed, while the body was sprawled across the bed with the feet dragging on the floor. Police surmise that he got up during the night to visit the bathroom and collapsed back on the bed, his head hanging downward, causing strangulation.

EARTHQUAKE AT HELENA, MONT.

By the Associated Press. HELENA, Mont., Sept. 30.—A sharp earthquake shock of sufficient intensity to loosen accumulated snow on the roofs of residences, was felt here at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The duration lasted for six seconds. The tremor and the sliding snow awakened many residents.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—An earthquake shock, so light that a great part of the city's population apparently did not notice it, was felt in San Francisco at 7:10 a. m. today.

PLUMBING TRADE AND UNION UNDER STATISTICAL ANTI-TRUST INQUIRY

HOW 2 PER CENT OF ALL PLUMBING CONTRACTS GO INTO THE BOSSES' 'KITTY'

The text of the "kitty" taken from the constitution and by-laws of the Association of Master Plumbers of St. Louis, which Attorney-General Otto Heller is to be contributing factor in building costs in St. Louis.

ARTICLE XXVII, Section 4.
It shall be the duty, and the same is made a charge upon each successful member of the Estimating Committee, to pay to the treasurer of the association as dues, two per cent of the amount of his bid, submitted upon any plan or specification, in which he shall enter into a contract for work. These dues shall also be paid for work done on percentage or days work, based on the amount of labor and material furnished, which said two per cent shall be payable within 30 days after the starting of the work. Water contracts run over one month, dues shall be paid on the amount received monthly.

Section 5. All such dues herein provided for shall be kept in a separate fund by the treasurer of the association and on the first day of January and July of each year hereafter for six months in advance shall be paid for each member of the association, and the balance, if any, shall be paid in equal sums to all members of the association who shall have submitted an estimate conforming to the requirements of this article within six months prior to said payment, as full compensation for their services to the association in submitting estimates.

The penalty prescribed by the constitution for violation of the foregoing article, which includes regulations on bidding, is a fine, suspension or expulsion from the association.

Canons Not Taken Invited.
Section 7 of the same article reads: "No member of the Estimating Committee shall submit a bid to any owner, architect or contractor unless they receive an invitation from said owner, architect or contractor requesting them to submit a figure on any plan or specification that has been placed on the market for competition."

It will be remembered that a special investigation of the Attorney-General, Otto Heller, has been working for several weeks in St. Louis on information concerning activities of the steamfitters, plumbers and journeymen plumbers, gathered by Post-Dispatch reporters during the past few months, between the steamfitters' union and journeymen plumbers' union, and reports caused the Attorney-General to decide upon an official inquiry.

LITTLE RASTUS, WITH WHISTLE, HIS OWN TRAFFIC COP

Blast on Vandeventer and West Pine Clears Crossing Till He Leads Sister Over.

On West Pine boulevard, at 4 p. m., the outbound motor cars stream by unendingly. Broadcaster and timid, the pedestrian hovers on the curbstone like a frightened bird before, taking his life in his hand, he scurries across the street.

Erastus is neither timid nor broadcaster. He is 10 years old. A chocolate drop with china eyes. Yesterday it was his task to take his little sister home from school.

When he reached the Vandeventer crossing of West Pine, a whistle whistled. Motorists from each of the four directions halted. They looked on every corner. They failed to see a boy.

Before they had recovered their aplomb, Erastus had replaced his whistle in his pocket. Clutching his sister by the hand he had crossed the street safely. And he had disappeared into the nearby alley where he is the old-time stable-boy which he calls home.

Played Checkers in Park on Sunday
By the Associated Press. BEAVER CITY, Neb., Sept. 30.—Grover Rhoades, arrested by the Beaver City Park board for playing checkers in the City Park Sunday, was released when he promised not to repeat the offense. The Park Board, backed by the city, had forbidden Sunday sports in the park.

WEATHER STOPS RESCUE WORK ON SUNKEN S-51

Attempt to Lift Submarine Thwarted, When High
Sea Forces Floating Cranes to Turn Back.

DIVERS REACHED
BATTERY ROOM

Naal Captain Says Dent Indicates Submarine Was Overtaken by Ship That Struck Her.

By the Associated Press.
ABOARD U. S. S. CAMDEN
OFF BLOCK ISLAND, Sept. 30.—
Seas still were running high above
the sunken submarine S-51 early this afternoon. The wind was still driving but the weather was still too rough to make it advisable for the crane ships Monarch and Century to come out again from Newport to renew the effort to raise the submarine.

It was said by naval officers that the divers had done all that was possible for the present. After a thorough search the divers have been unable to find any bodies in the battery room in addition to the two recovered yesterday. Some of the officers consider this an indication that more members of the crew than had been thought at first were washed from the submarine after the crash. It is believed some of the bodies may be washed ashore.

By the Associated Press.
NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 30.—
The submarine S-51, whose sister ship was lost in 1918, has been used to pump air into the S-51
and at the same time for diver reliefs.

Before going below the water
workers are made familiar with all parts of the submarine and given an opportunity to try out the various openings with their diving suits on to determine whether the passages can be safely made below.

Twenty divers are with the rescue fleet which comprises two crane
ships, the mother ship Camden,
two destroyers and several smaller craft.

Six trips to the ocean floor were made by divers yesterday. They got no farther than the battery room.

The work of the divers has established that there was a violation of the rules of the sea by the City of Rome in the collision. In the opinion of Capt. E. J. King, commander of the submarine base.

A dent in the hull of the S-51,
he said, showed that she was struck on the port side by a vessel overtaking her. International rules provide, he said, that "every vessel overtaking another vessel shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel."

Divers Enter Vessel.
Early yesterday a civilian diver
went down with Chief Torpedoman
T. J. Towne, a naval diver, the latter carrying with him a telephone connection.

They gained entrance into the submarine through what is known as the German hatch, the only hatch that can be opened from the outside. Beyond it is the conning tower and leads down to the forward battery compartment that the City of Rome pierced.

The room was filled with wreckage and the wrecking diver, groping his way about, found the door leading into the conning tower
open but it was too narrow for him to get through. He carried with him a lamp, but it did not give enough light for him to see far and it was necessary for him to feel his way. He found the bunks and located the first body,
that of John F. Gibson.

He dragged it out and passed it along to Towne, who attached the line and signaled for the body to be hauled to the surface.

Recommended Rescue Efforts on S-51
Be Turned Into Salvage Work.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Recommendations that the rescue work on the submarine S-51 be turned into salvage work were received at the Navy Department today from officers in charge at New London, but approval was withheld for the time being pending further consideration by naval officers.

TWO MEN GET SIX MONTHS
FOR CARRYING REVOLVERS

Belleville Judge Tells Pair Arrested
in April He Outed Pair in Jail.
J. W. Hill and Rollie Horan of Johnson City, Ill., were sentenced to six months in the St. Clair County jail in Belleville by County Judge W. R. Weber yesterday afternoon on pleas of guilty to carrying concealed weapons. The two men were arrested at Marietta, south of Belleville April 25 after Marshall Mahan and Wilson declare they found the men growing about in the rear of the J. C. Hamilton store.

"In view of the fact that you have already been prisoners in the county jail for five months I will not make your sentence a year but put it in jail," said Judge Weber.
Still and Horan declared that they carried the pistols to shoot for fun.

Futile Effort to Lift Sunken Submarine From Ocean Bed

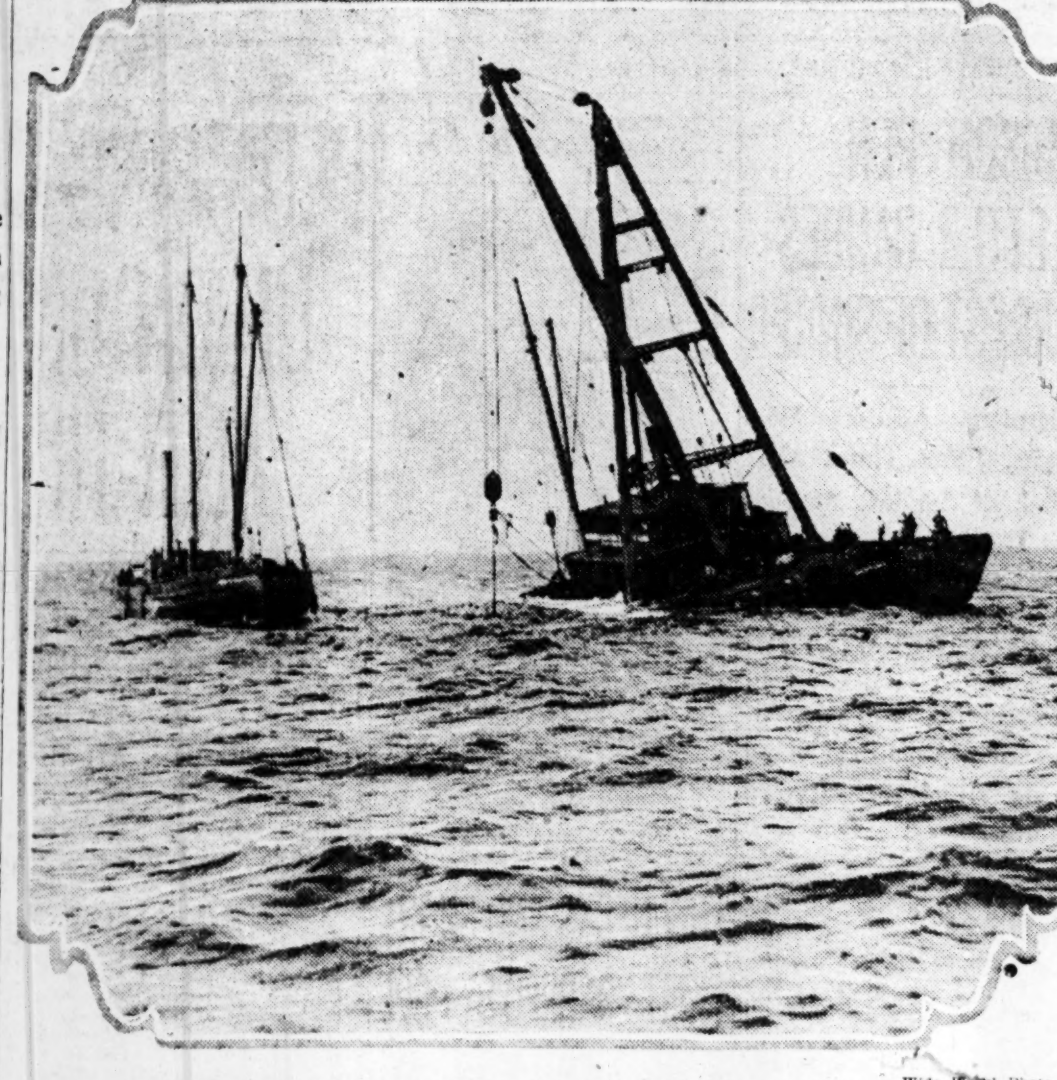

Photo shows the crane ship, Century, as she attempted to lift the sunken U. S. Submarine, S-51, from the bottom of the sea off Block Island where it was rammed and sunk on Friday night. The lighter nearly capsized in the operation, the waves washing over her as the cables strained. The Chittenden, a smaller lighter, is standing by to help.

Plumbing Trade and Union Under Inquiry

Plumbers' Association and the union are the wage contract with the union and typewritten working rules both of which are drafted yearly to meet conditions as to wages and working conditions.
Both agreements are drafted by a joint conference board composed of representatives of the masters and journeymen.

These working rules show an accord between masters and journeymen
that Attorney-General Otto believes will be a contributing factor in what he expects to show
as a combine in restraint of trade.

A copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Master Plumbers' Association, obtained by the Post-Dispatch, also contains indications of a combination within the organization in restraint of trade, according to the Attorney-General, who has compared provisions of the by-laws with the Missouri antitrust statutes.

The Working Rules.

Under the present working rules
master plumbers will not employ other than union plumbers in good standing in the union and the journeymen in return agree to work for none but an employer in good standing in the Association of Master Plumbers. The constitution of the latter organization prescribes a fine of $100 for a master plumber who may employ an employee from the shop of an other master plumber by offering inducements of any kind. Article XXI of the masters' constitution fixes an initiation fee at $100 and dues of $24 a year, payable in advance.

Article XXVII gives another version of what shall constitute the dues of members and how those dues shall be paid. This article says the dues of each member shall be paid in advance every six months from a special fund, known among builders as the "kitty," created by a levy of 2 per cent of the amount of each contract awarded. The general expenses of the association
are also defrayed from this fund,
and the balance, if any, according to the constitution, is distributed in equal sums twice a year to all members of the association.

A master plumber informed the Post-Dispatch that 2 per cent of his contracts, which he is required to pay into the association, amounts to more than $2000 a year and that his "cut" from the "kitty" rarely exceeds $200 a year.

"There are 180 members of the association," said this master plumber, "about 20 of whom contribute most to the 'kitty.' The others are the little fellows, but they come in for an equal 'cut,' provided they have complied with regulations on submitting estimates, and nearly all of them always do."

"An investigation of our association would eliminate certain evils
I believe, and would certainly remove restrictions that hamper plumbing operations on a big scale.
At any rate, it would result in a dissolution of our too close affiliation with the union, and I believe would permit installation of modern plumbing, which the union appliances make it hard work for the journeyman. Modern appliances

would reduce building costs materially, but the union opposes labor-saving and cost-reducing innovations."

Masters Subject to Fines.

The master plumbers are bound by the rules of their association,
by cash fines, and suspension or expulsion from the organization,
according to the constitution and by-laws.

Article XXVII of the constitution provides that all members of the association in good standing shall be members of a general estimating committee, each member of which is required to mail the secretary of the association a duplicate copy of estimates or bids.

Article XXII of the constitution
was called to McShane's attention.
This provides an initiation fee of $100 and dues of $24 a year, payable in advance. It is further
provided that a journeyman
plumber withdrawing from the union
shall receive a special rate in initiation fee of $25.

"How do you reconcile dues of $24 a year, payable in advance,
with the dues as provided for in the 'kitty'?" McShane was asked.

"There is a mistake about $24
a year dues, provided in Article
XXII," said McShane, "and the working rules will show that the
real dues consist of the 2 per cent
levied on all successful bidders."

Defends Rule on Bids.

Section 7 of the foregoing article,
provides that no member of the estimating committee shall submit a bid on any plan or specification
that has been placed on the market for competition unless invited to bid.

Discussing the provision forbidding members of the association to bid in open competition unless invited to do so, McShane said this was a good rule, as it gave dignity to the trade.

"Were it not for this provision,"

he explained, "architects, contractors and owners would be invited by bidders to whom they would not want to let a contract.
Therefore, members of the Master Plumbers' Association restrict their members to bid only upon invitation. There is no other reason for this provision. It is not intended to restrict the members in free competition. No one with any dignity wants to come to a feast uninvited, anyhow."

McShane added that the regulations on making bids were designed to prevent bid peddling by unscrupulous contractors, and the discussion of these bids within the association is done for the enlightenment of members who might overlook necessary costs which they should take into consideration
when making estimates.

To or eligible to membership in the Master Plumbers' Association,
one must have served five years as a journeyman apprentice and one year as a journeyman plumber.

each successful bidder contributes 2 per cent of his bid as dues, is only another means of paying the dues of members to keep them all in good standing. This method also enables the plumber just starting in business, and he is always a journeyman just out of the union struggling to establish a business for himself, to remain in the association and meet the heavy demands in dues and assessments.

The latter are sometimes heavy for charity, for hearses at funerals, possibly of some journeyman who has been faithful, and for other requirements demanding expenditures. Without a fund of this kind it would be difficult for the master plumber with a small business to remain in the association."

Article XXII of the constitution
was called to McShane's attention.
able in advance. It is further
provided that a journeyman
plumber withdrawing from the union
shall receive a special rate in
initiation fee of $25.

"How do you reconcile dues of
with the dues as provided for in
the 'kitty'?" McShane was asked.

"There is a mistake about $24
a year dues, provided in Article
XXII," said McShane, "and the
working rules will show that the
real dues consist of the 2 per cent

ACCUSER OF MINISTER WRITES HER OWN BRIEF

Mrs. Leland Opposes Reopening of Case in Which Husband Won Divorce.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Mrs.
Charlotte Leland, who testified to misconduct with the Rev. Carl D.
Case in the divorce suit brought by her husband, Albert H. Leland, has sent a brief written entirely herself to the Illinois Supreme Court opposing the motion of Dr.
Case for a reopening of the divorce suit.

Leland was granted a divorce
by the appellate court after the lower court refused it when Dr.
Case filed an intervening petition to clear his name, the clergyman
asked the Supreme Court to review the action.

Dr. Case recently resigned his pastorate against the wishes of his congregation, which staunchly supported him throughout the divorce controversy.

"I feel that the divorce should be granted," said Mrs. Leland in her brief, "because, as my testimony is true, Carl Case should not be pronounced innocent in the eyes of the public. He has brought this shame upon me and it seems to me time to let some of the men take their punishment."

Concerning a written confession
of misconduct with the pastor,
Mrs. Leland said in her brief:

"My confession was made privately to my husband. I wrote the confession because I felt he would then understand it all and things
would be cleared up between us.
He did not force me to tell. I had no thought of it becoming public
at that time."

"When he told me that divorce was the only thing feeling as he did, I only thought of persuading him otherwise, but he brought every argument to bear I could think of.
When I found that he, after a week of thought, still decided on a divorce, I knew I could do nothing
as my confession was the truth and nothing but the truth, and according to the law he was entitled to a divorce if he wished it."

She explained that lack of funds made her unable to employ an attorney.

THREE SALOONS RAIDED BY POLICE ON SEARCH WARRANTS

Eleven Cases of Beer and Two Gallons of Whisky Found at One of the Saloons.

Three raids with search warrants were made in the Magnolia Avenue Police District last night.
Arrests were made in two of them.

At the saloon of Lester Davis, 3901 Polson avenue, four men were arrested, and a search was made of two saloons of supposed beers. When Policemen Abbott and Frank entered, Abbott used an ice pick to open a lock on a door of a rear room, in which 11 cases of supposed beer and two gallons of supposed whisky were seized. Davis was absent, but his bartender, Peter Hellman, was arrested.

No liquor was found in the saloon of Cosimo Capriglioni, 1600 Tower Grove avenue, but two revolvers were found on an ice box. Capriglioni said he bought one from a prisoner policeman. He was arrested.

In all, there were 78 arrests yesterday, including 17 persons taken in raids on 21 saloons, four for hand-book gambling and 27 robbery suspects.

The police raid squad entered a saloon at 1857 South Ninth street last night, and observed a group of men standing at the bar, with steins before them. Beneath the bar, 192 bottles of supposed beer were found, and in a shed in the yard, 19 cases of supposed beer and five quarts of supposed whisky. Henry Santen, the bartender, was arrested.

A burglar call last night took police to 2548 "Crutenden avenue, home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gam-
ley, who are absent from the city.
The officers found lights burning in the house, which had been ransacked. Apparently the only thing taken out was a radio set, found in the back yard, indicating that the thieves had been interrupted by the police and had fled.

$500,000 FOR JEWISH SCHOOL

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—
Through the New York Community Trust, Mr. and Mrs. Felix M.
Warburg have created a $500,000
memorial fund for training school of Jewish faith.

The fund will be used to support
the newly established Institute of Jewish Studies at the University of Jerusalem in Palestine. If this becomes inexpedient, the proceeds may be diverted to students and teachers at other institutions of Jewish learning, particularly reference being made to the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati.

Entered as second-class matter July 17, 1879, at the Postoffice at St. Louis, Mo.
Post Office No. 1090.

SHERIFF HEARD ON CHICAGO JAIL SCANDAL

Pleads Ignorance of Unusual Liberties Granted to Convicted Beer Runners.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Sheriff
Hoffman and his formal jail warden, Wesley Westbrook, accused one another today before Federal Judge Wilkerson, who has cited them, Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, beer makers, and several jail employees to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for freedom and special privileges allowed Druggan and Lake while they were supposed to be serving a Federal sentence.

The Sheriff said he had brushed aside complaints from Druggan
and Lake of unsatisfactory treatment while they were in jail, because he said he trusted Westbrook.

Denies Getting Money.

Westbrook on cross-examination denied ever having received the $2000 a month both prisoners swore they paid him, as well as other sums. He said he let Drug-gan be taken to a bank because the Sheriff had ordered him to denied that he had any property
or money in safety deposit boxes.

The Sheriff repeated many times in his testimony yesterday that until the present hearing brought testimony that Westbrook had accepted thousands of dollars in bribes from Druggan and Lake he had implicit confidence in the man who for 28 years was known as "the honest cop."

Judge Wilkerson asked Hoffman during his direct testimony if the law did not make him solely responsible for the conduct of the jail and the Sheriff, visibly discomfited by the interrogation, explained: "God help the Sheriff's office if there is such a law. I have not been aware of it."

Sheriff Hoffman testified he learned only during the hearing that Druggan had been out of jail 80 or 90 days to the truth, and had been at his apartment in an exclusive residential section many nights and of the allegations of bribery amounting to approximately $20,000.

Explanation Causes Laughter.

The Sheriff's explanation of his efforts to have Druggan and Lake returned to the jail after he learned they had been released before expiration of their sentences brought a smile to Judge Wilkerson's face and loud laughter in the courtroom.
He learned Druggan was out,
then Druggan was returned and
"Lake got out."

"And while I was investigating Lake's release, I found out Drug-gan was out again," testified the Sheriff.

GENERAL REVENUE FUND OF THE STATE AT LOW EBB

Employees Likely to Have to Wait Until January for Their November and December Pay.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 30.—
Depletion of the general revenue fund of the State, coupled with the annual slump in revenue receipts of this period of the year, will result in the State being unable to meet the bulk of the November and December payrolls and bills until about the middle of January. It was learned today. The general revenue fund, which is the operating fund of the State, now is at its lowest ebb in the last two months of the year.

The State will be able to meet the October payroll and bills it was said, but employees of the State will have to face the financial stringency of the last two months unless banks agree to carry the vouchers, or the treasurer holds them as cash items.

The general revenue fund on Sept. 1, showed a balance of $1-$64,000. Disbursements during September totaled $687,434.88 and receipts were $368,448.85, leaving a balance today of $777,019.91.
Monthly payrolls and bills against the general revenue fund average $250,000. Books of the Treasurer
today show a total of $16,342,258
in the State Treasury in all funds,
but this does not mean the State has that amount for general operations, as the general revenue fund
is the operating fund of the State.
The money in the Treasury largely represents balances in a large number of special funds, such as the road fund, park fund and various bond retirement funds.

State collections begin in October
but the money does not reach the State Treasury, except in minor amounts, until about Jan. 15. During the last month the Treasurer drew about $1,500,000 from the various State depositories and probably will make a heavier withdrawal during the next month.

His wife, Mrs. Krommiller, charged him with beating her after she told him he had made a wrong play.

The divorce was granted by the St. Louis court after a hearing on the wife's complaint. The wife alleged that her husband had beaten her on several occasions during the past year, and that the cause of the beating was her criticism of his card playing.

JEWELER SUES FOR DIVORCE, ALLEGING INDIGNITIES

Samuel Goldstein of Webster Says Wife Elected to Live With Her Parents.

Suit for divorce was filed at Clayton yesterday by Samuel D. Goldstein, a jeweler, of 31 North Gore avenue, Webster Groves, against Mrs. Flora Goldstein, alleging indignities. They were married Sept. 23, 1924, and separated Sept. 18, 1932.

The petition alleges Mrs. Goldstein was cold and indifferent to the plaintiff, nagged him without cause, stayed away from home and elected to live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marks, 6240 Cates avenue, University City. Mrs. Goldstein, however, told a reporter she stayed with her parents because her husband was unable to make a living.

STORY ABOUT MOTHER OF SIX AT BEER PARTIES BRINGS RAID

Police Seize Home Brew at Rooming-House Followed Complaint.

The story of how a mother of six children was attending beer parties to the detriment of home life led the police to raid a rooming-house last night and seize the beer and the owner thereof. The raid, made without a search warrant, but was justified by the police on the ground the rooming-house was not a home but a "beer dump."

William Partney and his wife, Kate, 35 years old, and their six children, ranging in age from 5 to 19 years old, live at 2805 Madison street. The father is a steady, hard-working man, and the mother was hard working, too, until she met a "bartender's wife" recently, the police were told.

She was away from home last night, and her daughter, a girl friend, went in search. At 9:30 o'clock they found her, surrounded by empty bottles, in a rooming-house at 1813 North Tenth street, and started to lead her home. She became belligerent at Eleventh and Chambers streets, the police were called, and she was taken to city hospital, there to be diagnosed as suffering from acute alcoholism. She was locked up at the North Market Street Police Station.

At the North Tenth street house, the police reported seizing $2 quarts of home brew and numerous empty bottles, caps and crocks. John Kinney, 44, the rooming-house proprietor, was arrested. His wife, Ruth, was absent. She is the mother of "Dang Dang" Henry, one of the robbers who shot Chief of Police Martin O'Brien a few years ago, and who died after his release from the penitentiary.

$4,139,000 CITY BONDS SOLD FOR SLIGHTLY LESS THAN PAR

First of $87,572,000 issue to be marketed in Year Bought by St. Louis and New York Firm.

The first bonds of the $87,572,000 city issue to be marketed for a year were sold by the Mayor and Comptroller today. They are for a par value of $4,139,000 and were sold for slightly less than par, or $4,110,451. The money is for various objects under the 1925 program.

A syndicate composed of Kaufman, Smith & Co., Inc., of St. Louis, Eastbrook & Co. of New York and Kountze Bros. of New York made the purchase. There were six other bidders. Previous bonds of this issue sold by the city, aggregating $10,000,000, sold at a premium, but they bore 4 1/2 per cent interest, while these bear only 4 1/4 per cent.

Benjamin F. Charles, city bond attorney, said he thought the price was good in view of market conditions. It amounts to $99.31 on the $100.

The city plans to sell $7,000,000 more in bonds next year. The bonds sold today will be matured in groups from 1930 to 1945.

FOUR FINES AGAINST FORMER CURLEE STRIKERS DISMISSED

Fifth Reduced—Court Overrules Motion Presented by Defense

Four peace-disturbance fines of former strikers against the Curlee Clothing Co. were sustained by default and a fifth was reduced from $50 to $25 by Provisional Judge Philipson in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday after the overruled a motion for a continuance presented by the defense on grounds that chief counsel was absent and jury trial had been demanded.

It was announced that an effort would be made to have the fines and bond forfeitures, $200 in each case, set aside. None of the strikers and not all the prosecuting witnesses appeared. Judge Philipson continued the remaining 30 appeals of strikers to Oct. 3.

He sustained two $50 fines against Lena Bono and $50 fines each against Mary Denis and Anna Hancovsky on testimony that each had struck or scratched women after beating them as "beaches." He cut in half the $50 fine of Joseph Manella upon testimony that Manella had called a woman "a dirty scab" and fled when a policeman approached.

BISHOP TRAVELS BY TRUCK

Requests Parking Space at Episcopal Convention in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Many of the delegates to the forty-eight triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, opening in New Orleans, Oct. 7, will take over homes during their stay here. Total delegates to the house of Bishops, house of deputies and other organizations will exceed 2000, but requests for reservations for members of families of the delegates indicate that several times 2000 will attend. Bishop Edward Fawcett of Quincy, Ill., has advised the committee that he will arrive in a

"vagabond touring truck" and asks that parking arrangements be made.

Counsel of Associated Industries Bases Advice on Supreme Court Decision.

The Associated Industries of Missouri today advised manufacturers, shippers and retail merchants that they need not make a return of their bills receivable to the Assessor for purposes of taxation, according to an opinion given by the organization by its general counsel, Carter, Norton & Jones.

This is in conflict with an opinion announced by the Attorney-General, Aug. 29, that bills receivable are subject to assessment for taxes, as part of the personal property of firms or individuals. This opinion reversed one given in 1922, by the then Attorney-General, Jesse W. Barrett, that bills receivable were not subject to assessment.

Thousands of Dollars Involved. Collection of thousands of dollars of taxes hinges upon the opinion. In the opinion of Aug. 29, written by Assistant Attorney-General George W. Crowder and approved by Attorney-General Otto Crowder, the law on taxation did not specifically enumerate book accounts and bills receivable as property to be assessed for taxation, but held that such property was included under a provision adding "every other species of property not exempt by law from taxation" to the classes of property specifically listed. Nothing is contained in the Constitution or revenue law, Crowder said, to indicate that bills receivable or book accounts had been exempted or could be legally exempted.

The opinion by Carter, Norton & Jones, states: "We note that the Attorney-General does not cite any opinion from any Missouri court justifying his conclusion, but seeks to justify his opinion by excerpts from certain opinions, which in general terms are interpreted by the Attorney-General to mean bills receivable and that they are subject to taxation."

In the opinion he concludes that the case of State ex rel. v. Lesser, reported in 237 Mo. 218, is not controlling authority governing the question under discussion. In this conclusion of the Attorney-General we cannot concur, but to be contrary are of the opinion that the Lesser case is authority for the conclusion that bills receivable are not subject to return for assessment or taxes."

Sustained by Supreme Court.

After several quotations from the case, the opinion concludes: "The principles of law announced in the case of State ex rel. v. Lesser above referred to, have been sustained by the Supreme Court when the occasion arose, and it must be conceded that this case is now the law in Missouri."

It is therefore, our conclusion that bills receivable are not subject to taxation because they are not within the class of taxable property recited in the act of 1922 required to be listed and valued for tax purposes.

Therefore, we advise that the industries, whether corporate or firm, having bills receivable should not return them for purposes of taxation to the Assessor having jurisdiction over their properties."

Retired British Seaman and Daughter 15, Are Going to New Zealand, the New Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 30.—Undaunted by the terrors of the sea in winter, William Unitt, retired naval seaman, is about to start with his 15-year-old daughter on a 14,000-mile voyage to New Zealand in a 30-foot motor boat.

Unitt has bought land in New Zealand and he and his daughter prefer to go to their new home in a motor boat rather than in a liner. The Merganser, Unitt's motor boat, is equipped with a 24 horsepower coal oil burning engine. She has a 22-foot cabin and a wireless set. Unitt hopes to make the voyage in four months.

BILLS RECEIVABLE HELD NON-TAXABLE

Counsel of Associated Industries Bases Advice on Supreme Court Decision.

The Associated Industries of Missouri today advised manufacturers, jobbers and retail merchants that they need not make a return of their bills receivable to the Assessor for purposes of taxation, according to an opinion given to the organization by the general counsel, Carter, Norton & Jones.

This is in conflict with an opinion announced by the Attorney-General, Aug. 29, that bills receivable are subject to assessment for taxes, as part of the personal property of firms or individuals.
This opinion reversed one given in 1922 by the then Attorney-General, Jesse W. Barrett, that bills receivable were not subject to assessment.

Thousands of Dollars Involved.
Collection of thousands of dollars
in taxes hinges upon the opinions.
In the opinion of Aug. 29, written by Assistant Attorney-General George W. Crowder and approved by Attorney-General Otto. Crowder said the law on taxation did not specifically enumerate book accounts and bills receivable as property to be assessed for taxation, but held that such property was included under a provision adding
"every other species of property
not exempt by law from taxation"

to the classes of property specifically listed. Nothing is contained in the Constitution or revenue law, Crowder said, to indicate that bills receivable or book accounts had been exempted or could be legally exempted.

The opinion by Carter, Norton &
Jones, states:
"We note that the Attorney-General does not cite any opinion from any Missouri courts justifying his conclusion, but seeks to justify his opinion by excerpts from certain opinions, which in general terms are interpreted by the Attorney-General to mean bills receivable,
and that they are subject to taxation."

"In the opinion he concludes that the case of State ex rel vs.
Lessor, reported in 227 Mo. 218,
is not controlling authority governing the question under discussion.
In this conclusion of the Attorney-General we cannot concur, but to the contrary we are of the opinion that the Lessor case is authority for the conclusion that bills receivable are not subject to return for assessment or taxes."

Sustained by Supreme Court.
After several applications from that case, the opinion concludes:
"The principles of law announced in the case of State ex rel vs. Lessor above referred to have been sustained by the Supreme Court whenever the question arose, and it must be conceded that this case is now the law in Missouri."

"It is therefore, our conclusion that bills receivable are not subject to taxation because they are not within the class of taxable property recited in the act of 1923 required to be listed and valued for tax purposes."

Therefore, we advise that the industries, whether corporate or firm, having bills receivable should not return them for purposes of taxation to the Assessor having jurisdiction over their properties."

MUCH OPPOSITION IN FRANCE TO LOAN BY WALL STREET

Industrial Paper Warns Negotiators Against Being Tricked Into Changing Nature of War Debt.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1935, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
PARIS, Sept. 26.—An American loan as recompense for the debt settlement at Washington is attracting considerable attention in Paris and comment is increasingly unfavorable.

Le Quotidien, one of the most powerful organs of the Left, gives warning to Calliaux not to make a settlement which is based on a big loan. The article says:

"Accord, it is said, would permit an eventual and perhaps an immediate loan. This is possible, but it is questionable whether a loan is desirable. . . . Even admitting that this loan would have all the virtues attributed to it, it would not be sufficient to induce France to undertake engagements that she will be unable to keep. There are powerful individual financial interests which favor the loan. Public interests and national honesty are opposed to it. Calliaux did not go to the United States to ask for money but to offer it."

As Quotidien has maintained this attitude for several days, its stand means considerable opposition among the radical parties, particularly the independent radical vote which supports the Painlevé-Briand-Calliaux Government.

These radicals favor a debt settlement but they openly fear passing the debt from Washington to Wall Street. It is their purpose to make France the leading radical power of the world, with the greatest advances in socialization, and they prefer to take chances of a break with Washington than give what they consider the reactionary American financial power a stronghold on France. As they are backed in this by the Conservatives, who don't want the war debts to become fixed commercial obligations, there is a formidable opposition to any loan from America.

La Journée Industrielle, which represents the large steel and textile interests, says:

"It seems to us impossible that our negotiators would let themselves be taken in by such an obvious trick as letting the nature of the war debt be changed. We would no longer have to deal with the America of 1918, but with the American bankers of 1925."

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE CHIEFS MEET TO PLAN DRY OFFENSIVE

"Wets Making Desperate Drive to Weaken the Law," Says

Wayne B. Wheeler.
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 26.—The convention of the National Executive Committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America, opening here today, will be to law enforcement what the 1913 convention here was to the state of Ohio to adopt the eighteenth amendment, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, said.

"The wets are making another desperate drive to weaken the law and cripple its enforcement," Wheeler said. "There are more than 40 national wet organizations mobilizing their forces to get 2.75 per cent beer and to spread their poison propaganda that the law cannot be enforced. They are being aided by the wet liquor organizations of Europe, the smugglers from 'Rum Row' and Canada. The united dry forces also will mobilize and outorganize these enemies of enforcement and repulse their every effort at attacking the Constitution. If those who favor the eighteenth amendment stand pat it is only a matter of time until we can break these law-breaking forces."

Wheeler insisted that there was nothing in the report of the Federated Council of Churches to justify a conclusion that prohibition was an admitted failure.

Prohibition practically is paying its own way now, Wheeler declared.

WILL YOUNG LA FOLLETTE BE CODDLED OR KICKED?

Senate Republicans Face Problem; Inclination
to Pass Buck to Coolidge but He Appears to Be Buck Proof.

By Charles Michelson.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Those faithful members of the Old Guard who compassed the bull of excommunication that placed the multitudes of the presidential campaign outside the Republican pale are haunting the White House in an effort to get a ruling from President Coolidge on young Bob La Follette.

Like his father, he will come to the Senate with Republican credentials. As the Fathers of the Inquisition of last spring have had it dinned into them by the whole

told-you-so contingent, the magnitude of the Republican debacle
was due to resentment of the reading out of the party of those Senators who had taken the La Follette side in the campaign, they are of extending the policy of exclusion to a second generation.

On the other hand, young Bob conducted his victorious fight on an anti-Coolidge platform and presumably will not abate so popular a position.

The original thought was to give the youth—he is only 30, just inside the age limit for Senators—all the rope he would take in the hope that he would hang himself either in the loop of boyish intoxication or the noose of abashment
in the presence of so much wisdom
and dignity as the Senate presents.
The Wisconsin campaign does not promise that the young man will allow his head to be turned by his elevation to a place among the elder statesmen. And suppose the son of his father keeps cool and keeps his balance? Wisconsin probably will elect him again and again, carrying out the La Follette tradition and holding him a thorn in the flesh of stand-pat Republicanism until he has moved that the Senate adjourn out of respect to the memory of the great survivor of the old boys who tried to squelch him.

Unhappy Job for Watson.

Is it any wonder that Jim Watson goes around seeing ghosts as he tries to get Mr. Coolidge to say something—for the Indiana Senator as a general utility man of the outfit has been drafted for the unhappy job. It's an unhappy job because the President is as cordial as a cold Welsh rabbit to those who took him up on a high mountain of enthusiasm and showed him
the promised land of a reclaimed Northwest telling him that his popularity and their political skill
would work a miracle.

Passing the buck to a President is one of the best things the Senate does, but this particular President appears to be buckproof.
They tried it when Daugherty had to be ousted, and when the soldier bonus was up, but every time the buck either bounces back at them or slides past the White House to somebody else—like the coal strike that Gov. Pinchot got.

"It used to be," said Senator Caraway on one occasion, "the King can do no wrong; the modern version is the President won't do a darned thing."

Troubles never come singly.
Watson has not only to bell the cat in the La Follette matter, but has to worry about Indiana. Ex-Senator Beveridge has come to life and urges, at least the home folks are telling Watson, to tilt
with him next year for the Republican senatorial nomination. Possibly there is a La Follette en-even to this development. If Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas, where progressivism is wild and woolly, can thrive politically on La Folletteism, what is the matter with a more refined, properly curried liberalism in the State of poets and humorists? Naturally, Watson's friends are appalled at Beveridge's ingratitude. Didn't Watson get him the appointment that lame-ducked Harry New from the Senate? Watson denies it, but Indiana knows. However, the amount of gratitude that is due a philanthropist who lets you have something because he wants to keep it away from another fellow has never been determined. Moreover, Beveridge's nomination served only to let Ralston into the Senate, and the artless Indianans somehow accumulated the idea that their senior Senator bore patiently the cross of a Democratic colleague in the Senate rather than a rival boss in his own State.
New, cloistered in the Postoffice Department to keep him out of temptation, is probably weeping at the situation—because he must throw things, though he would be equally happy whichever of the two stopped his brick.

Question to Be Decided.

The Indiana episode is only a sidelight on the theme whether young La Follette is to be coddled or kicked. Somebody has to decide that and promptly, for the Senate would be up in a couple of months
and he must be read out of the party
before the committee assignments are handed out if at all. Is it better to perch his skull on the outer gates to scare the outlaws or tell him bygone are bygone and so tempt the runaways back to the fold?

There are senatorial ears to the ground from Iowa to Arizona, Oklahoma to Washington, listening for the verdict. Gooding in Idaho, Cardie in Nevada, even Shortridge in California, and Smoot in Utah want to know. Both Dakotas are concerned and Missouri is not indifferent.

In all these States the elder La Follette got enough votes if they are not frightened or placated back to regularly to bring or return a radical to the Senate or turn the senatorship to the Democrats. And if the guess at policy is wrong
somebody is going to be pilloried
for turning in an anti-Coolidge Congress.

The situation is hedged with uncertainties, but there is one certainty—among them—Mr. Coolidge will not be the responsible somebody.

NEW COURTHOUSE FOR ST. FRANCOIS COUNTY

Building When Erected, With Furnishings, Will Have Cost $250,000.

FARMINGTON, Mo., Sept. 30.—In place of the present courthouse built about 40 years ago, St. Francois County plans to erect one which, with its furnishings, will cost $250,000. With almost no exception, it will be the finest in the southern and eastern end of the State.

For years the county has contemplated a new courthouse. The present one has been outgrown. The population of the county has increased five times what it was when the courthouse was built and it no longer can house the offices and records.

There are no fireproof vaults in the old building, although there are vaults that served to protect against theft. In the office of the circuit clerk, there is no vault of any kind and all the criminal and civil records, save those of the county court and probate court, are exposed and protected only by the tin boxes used as files. The cost to reproduce these records in case of fire, would be immense, and some of them never could be replaced.

The old courthouse has been the scene of many stirring trials. Here the trial of the Dooley-Harris feud of Doe Run was held when those two families engaged in battle that terminated with death of almost every male member of the families on both sides. Here were held the trials of the labor leaders when the mobs drove out the Hungarians and other foreigners from the mines at Flat River and other mining towns, and from it several were led away to serve in the penitentiary.

The building will be torn down and the new one will nearly fill the square. It is to be modern in every way with ample room for the storage of records and with offices sufficient to take care of all that may be on the county payroll. During the time of building, the science hall of Carleton College, which is idle, probably will be used as courtroom.

Broadway and Washington was a noisy intersection. Cumbersome automobiles bumped their way over the cobblestone streets, dodging wagons and buggies of every description, to the accompaniment of clanging open-end trolley cars.

It was no wonder that among the leading St. Louis industries were the Banner Buggy Co. and the Moon Buggy Co. Changing times, changing conditions. Today the former makes the Gardner Motorcar and the latter the Moon and Diana.

From the store which the young Kline Brothers had leased just above Broadway and Washington they could see the reinforced iron building with its strange Nickelodeon on the first floor—a building which a few years later was to give way to the fine Kline Establishment St. Louis knows today.

Second Crop on Cherry Tree.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 20.—J. S. Hubbard, executive secretary of the Missouri Press Association, boasts a cherry tree now bearing its second crop of fruit here. Other trees are now losing their foliage, but this tree is just ripening its double-header crop. "What is gained in quantity is lost in quality, for even the birds won't touch this second growth of cherries," Hubbard said.

BETTER RETURNS FOR MISSOURI FARMERS

Nearly All Classes of Products Higher Than Year Ago, Report Shows.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 20.—Missouri farmers are receiving better returns for nearly all classes of farm products than a year ago. "This was brought out today in an agricultural report issued by E. A. Logan of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Jewell Mayes of the State Board of Agriculture.

The report also disclosed that during September of this year meat animals, cows, mules and wool
were quoted lower than in August.
Corn, wheat, most farm seeds and oats also lowered during September, while fruits, vegetables and dairy and poultry products showed as good or better prices than a month ago. The general tendency of many products bought by farmers was down during September.

Comparing September, 1925, with September, 1924, all livestock and livestock products were higher except milk cows, horses and mules.
Wheat and rye are higher than a year ago, but corn and oats are lower. Hay reflects the short crop of this year and is higher. Fruits and vegetables are higher except apples and tomatoes. Dairy products are at higher, poultry prices are up but eggs are priced lower than last September.

Clover and timothy seed and kaffir corn are higher than a year ago. Alfalfa seed, cowpeas and soybeans are lower.

Farmers when buying pay more for clover and timothy seed than last year. Bran, corn meal, coal, gasoline, potatoes, flour, coffee and binder twine also were listed by the report among the products for which the farmer must pay more than last year at this time. Alfalfa seed, cotton seed meal and sugar
can be purchased at lower prices
than September a year ago.

ANOTHER ALDERMEN'S JUNKET TO STUDY RAPID TRANSIT

New Members of Committee to See How Eastern Cities Handle
Transportation Problem.

A second junket to Eastern cities
will be taken by the Rapid Transit Committee of the Board of Aldermen soon, under authority of a resolution passed by the board yesterday by a vote of 21 to 7. Such a journey, for inspection of rapid facilities, was made by the committee about a year ago, but since then four new members have been named to the committee of seven Aldermen, and the chairman, Alderman Wimer, thinks the new members should see what other cities are doing.

The transit survey of St. Louis, which is nearing completion, was undertaken in conjunction with this committee's work. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit and Chicago are the cities which likely will be visited. The expense of the trip, not to exceed $2500, will come out of the aldermanic contingent fund.

The ordinance giving the Director of Public Utilities control of employees of the new Union Market and giving the Comptroller fiscal control of the building was passed unanimously by the board. Unanimous approval also was given to the resolution authorizing an al-dermanic investigation of all city departments in advance of consideration of the budget for the next fiscal year.

NEGRO GIVEN SEVEN YEARS ON PLEA OF GUILTY OF HOLDUP

Richard Syker, 25, Sentenced for Participation in Robbery of Bookkeeper Sept. 5.

Richard Syker, 25 years old, a negro living at 3436 Laclede avenue, was sentenced to seven years in the State Penitentiary today by Circuit Judge Landwehr for his part in the holdup of Joseph C.
Feldmeier, bookkeeper of the J.
A. McBride Co., 2639 Locust street, on Sept. 5, when two negroes escaped with $1239 of the company's money.

Syker pleaded guilty, but Sam
Mathews, the negro indicted with Syker for the crime, demanded a trial, pleading not guilty. His case has not been set.

SHOUTS BRING $10 FINE

Decision Given in Test Case Over Noise by Newsboys.

Police Judge Beck yesterday
fined Charles Krier, a news agent, of 2626 Charlton street, $10 for disturbance of the peace, in that he allowed his newsboys to shout too loudly on the northwest corner of Grand and Washington boulevards
to the discomfort of the menbers of the University Club, located there.

Officials of the University Club remonstrated with Krier about the loud cries of his newsboys. Krier suggested making a test case. In court yesterday Krier was fined on his admission that his newsboys shouted as they sold their newspapers. He appealed.

Louisville Boy Sought in St. Louis.
Edwin Orville Hobbs, described as 15 years old, "but looks to be 18 or 20," son of Rev. E. O. Hobbs of 1063 Lynnhurst avenue, Louisville, Ky., and a boy companion are being sought by policewomen here at the request of Mrs. Hobbs, who writes she is "sick at heart" and ill
from worry over the boy's disappearance. She writes the boy was apparently influenced to leave Louisville by the other boy. They disappeared Sept. 22.

COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING VOTE NOV. 17

Student Council at Missouri U. to Ask Board of Curators to Abide by Decision.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 20.—The Student Council of the University of Missouri by a vote of 7 to 3,
named the first Tuesday following
"home-coming," which will be Nov.
17, as the date on which the students will vote on compulsory military training. The result of the election will indicate whether or not the student council will present

the matter to the Board of Curators asking the board to abide by the decision of the election.

The objection to compulsory military training is on two grounds.
First, there are between 300 and 400 young men in the university who are compelled wholly or partially to support themselves while in the university. Military training is scheduled from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, which in many cases conflicts with the work these men do, such as carrying newspapers and waiting on table.

The second reason urged in the student body is the matter of conscience. Many opponents declare it is a step toward militarism. The University of Missouri is a land grant school and should the curators decide to abolish the practice of compulsion some arrangements would have to be made with the Federal Government to maintain the provisions of the agreement between the school and the Government.

POLICEMAN, FATHER OF 11, DIES; 31 YEARS ON FORCE

Julius A. Kunz, 62, Stricken With Paralysis, Had Been Hit by Auto May 3.

Patrolman Julius A. Kunz, 62 years old, of 7865 Water street, who was in the Police Department 31 years, almost uninterruptedly in the Carondelet District, died at 1:30 a. m. today at his home from a paralytic stroke. He is survived by 11 children, 10 of whom are boys.

An autopsy will be held to determine, if possible, if the stroke could have been superinduced by injuries Patrolman Kunz suffered the night of May 3 last, when struck by an automobile in front of 6721 South Broadway. At that time he recovered concussion of brain, but recovered and returned to work on reserve duty.

The automobile was driven by Walter Weinrich, 22, of 3951 Connecticut street, who did not stop.

He was subsequently arrested and charged with leaving the scene of an accident and felonious wounding. He and Alvin Becker, a companion, admitted hitting Patrolman Kunz and gave as a reason for not stopping extreme nervousness. They said they were not going faster than 20 miles an hour; that the headlights were dim, and they did not see Patrolman Kunz until after they hit him.

Yesterday was a recreation day for Patrolman Kunz, and he was stricken at his home about 11 a. m.

Letters Burned in Mail Box. All but 10 letters of the mail in a post box in front of 333 North Grand boulevard were burned last night by someone who dropped a match into the box. Passerby saw smoke coming from the receptacle and extinguished the flames. A youth who had been leaning on the box departed a few moments before the smoke was seen.

Arizona Votes for Compensation Act.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 26.—Returns from 253 precincts of 441 in the State, tabulated today, indicated victory for proponents of a State workmen's compensation law as the result of the special election yesterday. The vote was 847 for and 261 against. Only sparsely settled areas of the State remain to be heard from. An exceptionally light vote was cast.

SALADANG IS OBJECT OF HUNT

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The saladang, a rare and vicious animal described as being what the modern cow would have been if she had not been tamed and civilized, is the object of a gun and camera search by Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, five times Mayor of Chicago, will hunt the Saladang with a gun. His wife, noted in literary circles, will seek it with a movie camera.

ILLINOIS LEADS ALL STATES
IN SAFE PRODUCTION OF COAL

Percentage of Fatalities for Year Ending June 30 Less Than 2 Per Million Tons.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 30.— With less than two fatalities for each million tons of coal mined
during the year ending June 30,

Illinois now leads all states in the Union for safety in coal operations. The annual coal report of the State Department of Mines and Minerals says only 117 fatalities were reported during the year in coal mines.

"The accident percentage in Illinois is extremely low," A. D. Lewis, director of the department said.
"Illinois' percentage of fatalities is less than two for a million tons, while the average in all states is approximately four per million tons. Illinois now leads all states

in safe production of coal.

"It is noteworthy that gas explosions have been reduced to a minimum—only one fatality being recorded from that cause. That is a new record in that one class of accidents, both for the state and nation."

Falls of roofs and slides took the heaviest toll, killing 57 miners, and accidents in the handling of pit cars and motors came next with a grist of 30 lives, the report says.
Electricity caused ten deaths and explosives nine.

Fatalities were reported heaviest among the men actually engaged in digging coal, of whom 46 were killed. The other occupations follow: Loaders, 7; laborers, 13;

trip riders, 12; machine men, 12;
motormen, 4; trackmen, 2; drivers,
5, and shot firers, 2. Of the total number killed, 112 lost their lives underground.

Quiet Birthday for Hindenburg.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Sept. 30.—To the disappointment of the Nationalists,

who had planned a big demonstration in his honor, President von Hindenburg has decided to spend his seventy-eighth birthday in the country. He has appealed to the people to refrain from all demonstrations, particularly the beflag-

COOLIDGE DEFENDS MORALE OF NAVY

If It Is at Fault, He Holds,
It Is Through Over-zeal.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Agitation over naval conditions and charges resulting from recent disasters that Secretary Wilbur has administered affairs of the department poorly, has drawn President Coolidge to a defense of the morale and efficiency of the service. Through a spokesman, he made known yesterday the opinion that if the navy had been guilty of anything, perhaps it had been over-zealous in seeking peace-time accomplishments, thereby taking risks but also displaying enterprise. Remarks at the White House were made in response to inquiries resulting from a New York World editorial calling for Secretary Wilbur's resignation. Mr. Coolidge thinks it is too early to pass judgment on causes for the wreck of the Shenandoah or sinking of the S-51, but he is willing to stand behind his naval secretary. Wilbur added nothing to his short statement of yesterday insisting he was right when he said Lieutenant-Commander Lansdowne of the Shenandoah had full authority to call off the flight, which ended disastrously in Ohio. Navy officers generally came to the Secretary's side, taking the position that he has been harassed for some time over matters over which he had no control.

Hozumi Heads Privy Council.
By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Sept. 20.—Dr. Baron Chin Oho Hozumi has been chosen President of the Privy Council. Baron Hozumi has been a Privy Councillor since 1916 and is a professor emeritus of the Imperial University of Tokyo. He was born in 1857 and studied law in England, Germany and Japan. He succeeds Viscount Arata Hamano, who was fatally burned by a bon fire in his garden Sept. 24.—The Privy Council acts in an advisory capacity to the Emperor and has final decision on all questions of interpretation of the Constitution.

Thursday We Feature for the First Time

WIRTHMOR APRON FROCKS

Ginghams
Cotton Linene

A LARGE shipment of Wirthmor Apron Frocks has just arrived and are being offered for the first time Thursday at a price that is exceptionally low. The values presented are truly remarkable, and no housewife should overlook this timely selling event.

Regular Sizes

Chambray
Cotton Prints

THE outstanding features of these Apron Frocks are the excellent materials, the good workmanship, the fullness of cut, the necklines, the cleverly applied trimmings, the smart combinations of material and the profusion of colorings.

Extra Sizes

We have joined hundreds of stores in a co-operative plan to obtain exclusive sale of the production of the Wirthmor manufacturer, and the price to you is not what you would ordinarily pay for garments of this character. They are most attractive, enabling the housewife to look her best at all times.

We cannot emphasize too much the high quality in these Frocks. Not ordinary Dresses, but styled and planned to look well on the figure. In some styles there are sizes for stouts. All for this low price, $1.00.

UNION-BIRCHER SEWER
LOW BID $161,658

Contract Likely to Go to Firm Whose Waterworks Bid Was Rejected.

The Missouri Engineering and Contracting Co., whose recent bid on the construction of the new 100,000,000-gallon waterworks reservoir was rejected, though it was the lowest, today appeared as the lowest bidder for the construction of the joint district sewer in the Union-Bircher district, west of Union boulevard, between the Terminal tracks and Bircher street. Its bid on this job was $161,658.15.

It is expected that the sewer contract will be awarded to the company. The ground taken by the Board of Public Service for awarding the reservoir contract to the second lowest bidder was that the Missouri concern was not "responsible." This referred to the company's engineering and mechanical equipment, and not to its financial standing.

Flurry Over Waterworks Bid.
The real reason for the board's action in the reservoir case, it appeared at the time, was that two officials of the Water Department, one of whom had prepared the specifications for the reservoir, had connected themselves with the company. The discovery brought complaints from other bidders. The men, Francis Cutts, assistant Water Commissioner, and C. M. Daily, chief engineer, resigned from the department and are now connected with the Missouri Engineering and Contracting Co.

The Missouri Engineering and Contracting Co. has the financial backing of W. H. Moulton and Horton Watkins, vice presidents of the International Shoe Co. Its bid on the reservoir job was $1,058,616, or $72,192 lower than the bid of the Frazier-Davis Construction Co., which got the contract.

On the Union-Bircher sewer contract, the Missouri company bid is 7.5 per cent below the city's estimate, which was $175,000. The next lowest bid was that of Smith Bros., Inc., $174,310.20.

Low on Baden Sewer.
The lowest bid for Baden Sewer District No. 4, a bond-issue work, was submitted by the Riley Contracting Co., and was $131,562.70, or 17.8 per cent under the city's estimate of $160,000.

In nine alley lettings, held yesterday, a new firm, the Progressive Construction Co., proved to be lowest on six of the jobs. Its bids being 18 to 21 per cent below the city's estimates. The Skramka Construction Co. was the low bidder on two alley jobs, and Perkinson Bros. Contracting Co. on one. The alleys, to be constructed of concrete, are in three South St. Louis neighborhoods. In the southwest, Forest Park district and in two northwestern localities.

MAN TAKES RAT POISON

After two attempts to end his life, William Burns, 35 years old, 414 North Fourteenth street, East St. Louis, who is in the city hospital here suffering from two doses of rat poisoning, will recover.

East St. Louis detectives arrested Burns yesterday morning after he had taken a portion of the rat poison. He was given emergency treatment and was released. At 8:10 last night Burns walked into Central Police Station, saying he had taken poison. He was rushed to the city hospital, where a tube of rat poison was found in his pocket. Burns said he was tired of life because he could find no work.

Telephone Sale Authorized.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 30.—The Cape Girardeau Bell Telephone Co. has been authorized by the State Public Service Commission to purchase the property of the Perry County Telephone Co. and its franchise rights for $41,000. The commission authorized the Cape Girardeau company to issue $50,000 in preferred stock to be held for cash to pay the $41,000 purchase price and to pay for $9,000 in improvements.

U. S. CUTS FRENCH DEBT ANNUITIES TO $130,000,000

Negotiations for Funding Resumed With Commissions Nearer an Agreement Than Heretofore.

PROVISION MADE FOR REVISION OF TERMS

This Will Be Operative in Case It Is Evident That French Capacity Has Been Overestimated.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The debt negotiations between the French and American missions seeking to fund the $4,000,000,000 French war debt moved rapidly today with the negotiators nearer together than they have been since the discussions began.

It was indicated that it had been agreed that a clause should be inserted in any settlement for a revision of payments in the event that it should become evident on both sides that the French capacity to pay had been overestimated, and in addition the American Commission has reduced the proposed annuities from $150,000,000 to $120,000,000. Both of these plans are considered of great importance by the French delegates.

Another proposal would delay payments in the event of the exchange market not being favorable in the transfer of cash on the date fixed, thereby giving the French treasury a certain freedom of movement in choosing the more favorable time of transfer. The French group, it is understood, has not accepted these figures, but a way may be found for keeping down the French annuities by extending the term of years from 65 to 75 or 78. Each of these terms of years is being examined.

By CHARLES MICHELSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Further concessions by the Americans were foreshadowed yesterday as a result of unofficial and informal conferences with the French debt commission, which reported that the Americans are now considering the so-called security clause which is to be included in the settlement.

What the French desire is a provision that will enable them to get a revision of the funding terms, the French group, it is understood, has not accepted these figures, but a way may be found for keeping down the French annuities by extending the term of years from 65 to 75 or 78. Each of these terms of years is being examined.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Impressed.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 AFTER 20 hours in jail, I think, one of the best editors I have read in a long while. The condition you describe is no doubt the reason why we have so many go wrong. I trust the editorial will be read by several who were losers in the night and day affairs.

Protect the Fish.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 If the sportsman will only stop to think of what it means to him, every one who should a gun and carries a fishing rod will get behind Mr. W. W. Ellis, former Fish Commissioner, and his suggestion for a closed season on fish during spawning season and general conservation of game.

His valuable contribution in Sunday's Post-Dispatch caused me to immediately write my State Representative, urging that they get behind such a movement. My idea is to enlarge such a proposition and make a closed season during spawning months on all fish. Why limit it to bass when some of us are not so far advanced as to be able to catch bass with the fly or artificial minnow? We who angle for perch, crappie and goggle-eye are also interested because we can see by results that the supply of these fish is not what it was several years ago. Just before the Legislature meets there should be meetings of sportsmen throughout the State planning a campaign to insist on the passing of such legislation.

Another and most important thing, do it immediately when the Legislature meets and also insist that an emergency clause be attached so that the bass and other fish will be protected during the spawning season of 1926. It will be a step in the right direction.

A MEMBER OF THE ISAAC WALTON LEAGUE.

Board of Children's Guardians.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 IT WAS with deep feeling that I read in your issue of Sept. 23, Mr. Alfred Fairbank's splendid exposition of the "aged and dangers of the proposed revision of the city charter." It is most dependent, neglected and delinquent children. I can hardly comprehend that such a step of retrogradation is possible in St. Louis with its present highly developed and organized social service work in child care.

Neither any portion of the present program of the Board of Children's Guardians, nor that of the Psychiatric or Child Guidance Clinic should ever be placed under an official with the title of "Commissioner of Correction." It is most desirable for a youngster to become a recipient of care and treatment at a child guidance clinic that is under the supervision of a "Commissioner of Correction." Surely the good men and women of St. Louis who are interested in the dependent children of the city will not permit such a step to be taken.

I had the privilege to be associated in the work of the Board of Children's Guardians with Mr. Alfred Fairbank when he was the board's first director in the work. Later when he left the work to enter the services of the American Red Cross, I had the honor of succeeding him to this executive position. For 12 years I spent that work gave me an intimate knowledge of the splendid results that have been accomplished through the efforts of the members of the Board of Children's Guardians. Though called to a national field in child welfare, I am deeply interested in the welfare of the work of the Board of Children's Guardians and am ready upon notice to rally to the call of the members of that board should they believe that I can serve them in any way whatsoever. I endorse all that Mr. Fairbank has said and join him in stating that the proposal should be defeated and an end put to a revival of such a reflection on the good judgment of the progressive citizenship of the community.

MISS EMMA C. PUSCHNER.

Indianapolis, Ind.

Uncle Sam, World Boss.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
 As the French debt commissioners lie on to American taxpayers, they might well imagine themselves across the Rhine instead of among a people who fought Germany. Not only could we not only a sentiment reaching beyond a dollar mark but they see evidence of an imperialistic swelled head that must remind them of the Kaiser. Numerous voices are raised, among them that of the Governor of Wisconsin and Milwaukee, demanding that the French cease their war against the Riffs. What a fine substitute it would be for a League of Nations to create an American tribunal to act as general arbiter and administrator of international affairs.

It is plain to see that the "foreign agents" who inhabit the rest of the world outside of the United States require the same and fatherly hand of a Yankee.

WALTER FAXON.

AMERICAN AVIATORS IN MOROCCO.

Col. Charles Sweeney, commander of the new Lafayette American Escadrille, which is dropping bombs upon the Rifians, declares in a special cable to the Post-Dispatch that they will not be swerved from the work "for the future of Christian civilization" by any action the State Department may take under the neutrality laws of the United States.

That Col. Sweeney and his fellow American aviators have violated these laws and, particularly, section 5282 of the Revised Statutes, seems unquestionable. That section sets out:

Every person who, within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States, enlists or enters himself, or hires or retains another person to enlist or enter himself, or to go beyond the limits or jurisdiction of the United States with intent to be enlisted or entered in the service of any foreign Prince, state, colony, district or people, as a soldier or as a marine or seaman, on board of any vessel of war, letter of marque, or privateer, shall be guilty of high misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, and imprisoned not more than three years.

That French lawyers considered their status before the French War Office put them to work is evidenced in the fact that these Americans are not formally enrolled in the French army, but are informally assigned to the puppet Sultan of Morocco as a "Sheriffian Guard." No oaths have been administered and no papers of any obligation signed, says Col. Sweeney.

The taking of a soldier's oath in a foreign army involves forfeiture of citizenship to an American. Col. Sweeney and his fellow Americans will not, therefore, be compelled to await their turn as foreigners under the quota on their homecoming. But, being enrolled in no army, they are unlawful belligerents or franc-tireurs, who upon capture may be summarily dealt with.

If one of them falls into Abd-el-Krim's hands and is immediately shot, the French propaganda service will promptly inform us, and those who know nothing of the distinction between lawful and unlawful belligerents will denounce the Rifian chief as a barbarian.

We trust Col. Sweeney and his companions are drawing pay commensurate with their risks.

THE APATHY OF THE VOTER.

Atlanta's attempt to hold a bond-issue election during an interseasonal baseball series was a dismal failure. At the ball park, the Atlanta Crackers, champions of the Southern League, were battling Fort Worth, champions of the Texas League, for the supremacy of Dixie. In town, the polling places stood deserted. Only 7000 votes were needed to approve a bond issue of $2,000,000 to finance the erection of a new city hall. The vote was 6400 for and 1200 against the issue, but 20,000 other voters, cheering the Atlanta team, were too busy to record their wishes on this important local question.

Another campaign will now have to be held and another election, with all the expense that implies. The date, no doubt, will be carefully selected so as not to interfere with any important baseball, football or golf match. At that time, after weeks of cajoling, Atlantans will probably give a decisive verdict on the bond-issue question.

The incident is illustrative of the apathy of the American citizen toward governmental affairs. While the interests of Americans in pleasure and business are rapidly widening, the concern over political and governmental problems diminishes. Small and selfish political minorities make the most of the situation, being able in most cases to control elections. Graft, misrule, careless administration are the results. But ultimately the blame for erring officials must be placed at the door of the average citizen, whose indifference is causing a decay of democracy.

A TERRIBLE PRICE TO PAY.

These awful East Indians! We read with horror of the cruelties practiced upon Sir Hurri Singh, better known to the Western world as Mr. A., as punishment for his boyish pranks. Sir Hurri now sits on the gem-studded throne of his ancestors. He bears the resounding title of Maharajah of Kashmir and Jammu. At his slightest nod, 3,000,000 subjects make obeisance, and every year the royal paymaster slips Sir Hurri a pay check for $5,000,000.

This sounds pretty grand, but wait! The path to the job of Maharajah was one of shame and humiliation. Before Sir Hurri's uncle, the former Maharajah, died, he was duly apprised of that little black-maling episode in London, whereby the young and exuberant son of the Singh family was touched for a few hundred thousand as the price of his infatuation for Mrs. Maude Robinson.

When the prodigal returned, the Maharajah refused to see him. It seems the old gentleman was in his private sanatorium chewing off his celebrated finger nails in an effort to think up some punishment fitting to the crime. At last a decision was reached. In order to purify his soul and to make himself worthy of succession to the throne, Mr. A. was doomed (1) to shave off his miniature black waxed mustache; (2) to kindle a sacred fire and to put thereon a sacrificial offering consisting of a plate of rice and melted butter.

Cringing under the sting of this sentence, the princely hands did the royal bidding. As the face shorn of its proud possession watched the sacred smoke ascending to the heavens, Sir Hurri was received into the arms of the Maharajah. A few weeks later, when the old man died, Mr. A., purified and exalted, got the job. But what a terrible price to pay for $5,000,000 a year and a gem-studded throne!

THE BACHELOR.

That preacher who complained about "the number of old bachelors in St. Louis" may have been right. There may be too many of those delinquents here, as he says—"Too many for their own good and for the city's good." Just the same, these social and biological slackers are not a total loss. They also serve even if they only stand and wait.

The statisticians inform us that three women have their possessive eyes trained on every bachelor over 40 and six women on every bachelor past 50. Now, if those bachelors were not bachelors, what would be the plight of these angling women? When the rollicking blade of 40 had finally been snared two women would be marooned on the desolate Isle of Despair. And when the sprightly, debonair old boy of 50 had been vanquished there would be five fainting ladies on the bleak, disconsolate shore. Would the delicious joy of the two fortunate sirens offset the anguish of the luckless seven? Quite a question, isn't it? It is one we frankly dodge and one, we venture, that will make our match-making parson pause for a puzzled moment.

The simple truth, so often and casually forgotten, is that God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. Superficially the bachelor appears to be a total loss. Considered profoundly, does he not fill a noble niche in the baffling temple of things? So long as he is a bachelor he is not a radiant prospect for hungry hearts? In short, while there is a bachelor there is hope for flocks of otherwise hopeless females.

A PLOT?

To Sam Blythe, political analyst and prognosticator, we make deep obeisance. Few men are more deeply learned in the devious lore of higher politics, few can reduce it to such simple and readable terms for the masses. But Sam, like the great Homer, nods on occasion, and we are inclined to think that his latest pronouncement from Washington is one of these occasions.

In an article called "The Third-Term Tom-Tommers" Blythe senses a plot to unhorse Coolidge. The authors of the plot are the members of the Republican Old Guard, who "do not like Mr. Coolidge, never have liked him and never will like him." Their method is to boost the third-term idea, knowing the popular prejudice against third terms. Says Mr. Blythe:

Why all this rush to tie the third-term can on Mr. Coolidge? Why this intense eagerness, early in 1925, to stencil him, tattoo him, even, with third-term sentiments? Of course, they (the Old Guard conspirators) are skillful enough to get out their third-term propaganda without the antagonistic angle. They are not talking in opposition to a third term for Mr. Coolidge. On the contrary. What they are doing is advertise the idea . . . with the plan of making it apparent to the people that another term for Mr. Coolidge will be a third term.

Blythe sees through the crafty methods of the Old Guard, exposes them, riddles them. He knows that, if their true desires were revealed, they would prefer to see the "right sort of Democrat" in the White House as of March, 1929, rather than Mr. Coolidge. And he cites the President's great popularity as the thing which galls the Old Guard and drives it to such dark-lantern methods.

We fear that Blythe has kept his ear so close to the ground that, as Joe Cannon used to say, it is full of grasshoppers. The third-term talk flared up on July 6, when David Mulvane, fresh from a confab with Secretary Sanders, said that Coolidge "can have another term if he wants it." That was regarded as a semi-official expression of the desires of the President himself.

What Blythe is driving at, apparently, is that Coolidge should have a third term without that odious label. But, since Coolidge knows the third-term bogey would inevitably be aroused in the long run, why isn't it good strategy for him to mention it first? Between now and 1928, he might well reason, the people will get so accustomed to the idea that it will no longer frighten them. Whether this would be the effect or not, it is a shrewd piece of gambling. Lacking any word from the White House we are inclined to think that the President, a congenial office seeker, himself is a party to the plot which Blythe describes.

RIVER FRONT IMPROVEMENT.

Our valued letter writer signing with the pen-name "Don" suggested in a recent letter on river front improvement that "For a sum less than one hundredth of the total amount of the recent bond issue a substantial improvement, consisting of a quay wall constructed at along a line lying 155 feet between the inner harbor line and the intervening area filled in, leveled and paved, could be quickly made a fact, would brighten up the looks of the city and attract a very considerable amount of interest and attention from all sections of the country."

He also pointed out that "The estimate of the engineers in 1914 for a four-section total 1200-foot length of quay wall, constructed at a point 155 feet from the inner harbor line, was $357,000, and for the same improvement with quay wall 125 feet from inner harbor line was $306,000. Costs are somewhat higher today as to materials and labor, but against this there are quicker and more efficient methods. Figures include paving at dock surface, etc."

The City Plan Commission, which has done such excellent work in formulating plans for the improvement of the city, especially the central downtown district, has not up to this time been able to do anything in the way of planning for river front improvement. It has had the matter in mind, and last year tried to get an appropriation to start the preliminary work necessary, but was unsuccessful. It is evident that public sentiment is turning very strongly in the direction of a sweeping improvement of the river front, and it is hoped that the City Plan Commission will be successful in a further effort to get the necessary appropriation for a comprehensive survey and report.

In New York, it is said, men are wearing grotesque waistcoats with large floral patterns in autumn coloring. Well, they may get away with it in New York, but we warn them not to try it around Grand and Olive.

JOHN MATTHEWS III.

The Rev. John McCarthy, whom we count among our contributors, lays down the postulate that drink is wrong because it hurts mankind. There is no doubt of it. So is pie. A good many people have steadfastly avoided radishes ever since they killed former Gov. Roosevelt F. Flower of New York. The question is how we can avoid wrong things being as we are. We have appetites, every one of which hurts mankind. If we did not drink water we would never have typhoid fever. Liquor is like everything else that gratifies an appetite. It hurts us if we are incapable of moderation. Whether it has killed more men than doughnuts we do not know. However, we have complete confidence in the acturaries of the Interchurch Federation, whenever they can get to it.

If what follows be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, make the most of it! Its source is one from which you attempt at the frivolous would be looked for about as much as a joke from Jonathan Edwards.

A man in New York City left his home one evening to go downtown. In the vicinity of the elevated railroad structure he was whirled off his head by a gust of wind and disappeared. He went back home and got another hat. Perhaps an hour later as he was passing the place where he had lost his headgear, he pulled off the hat he was wearing to scratch his head and from somewhere above the hat he had lost had been resting upon the elevated structure and happened to fall at just the right moment to strike his head which he had bared at the proper time.

DIZZY DAYS.

You cannot sell guns, bullets, knuckles in wholesale lots and expect our allies to be full of milk bottles only. You cannot expect a certain civilization that teaches us to get the dough above everything else in life to be a set of Sunday school pupils. You cannot pass laws against the natural laws of evaporation, fermentation, chemical action and reaction, the process of fruits, vegetables, grains, etc., rotting and fermenting. You cannot stop hunger, appetite, thought, desire, thirst and dry throats by saying "hocus pocus" or writing a few words on a piece of paper called a law and expect a real human being to swallow it and feel perfectly contented. The old days of Main Street, the horse and buggy, the girl in cotton socks, gingham dress and shiny nose are over. Great numbers now sing "To Hell with the Deacon" dance to a "Hot Mamma" tune and read "Snappy Giggles." This age has no crop of angels. No age ever produced a number of saints and angels. People now-a-days speak their minds and have cut the G string of hypocrisy. Civilization in this old nation is on a commercial jag, an intoxication caused by war, speed, pep and get there. We are just animals who have stepped on the gas—stepped up too fast for our souls to figure out—just yet—what we're in such a rush for. But human nature and common sense will never change, and humanity is still on the road to a better future with less laws and fool regulation.

BONEHEAD.

After having worried along through many centuries, savagery has at last been officially defined under food inspection division 194 of August 18, 1925, by the Joint Committee on Standards of the United States. Without going into detail of scientific definition, you will be interested to know that sauerkraut was found to be what we have always suspected—that is, shredded cabbage salted and fermented. So we were right about that, anyway.

Sir: Your work on apostrophes and signs has been fine and of benefit to the community. There has been an epidemic for several years of misusing the word "theistic." As used in newspapers, magazines and current literature it seems as if it is used in the sense of feverish; but such is not its true meaning. It means constitutional or natural or inherent, or a state arising from a chronic condition.

THE MOSUL OIL FIELDS.

POSSESSION is nine points of the law in the League of Nations, as in other fraternal communities. The British, through the puppet State of Iraq, are in possession of the Mosul oil fields, and accordingly the Council of the League, after pondering the anti-British findings of its commission, with all the austere solemnity of a judge, was about to hand Mosul to Great Britain. The Turks made it plain that in their view such a decision went beyond the competence of the council and was likely to mean war. The council therefore continued its protracted deliberations, and soon reached a new conclusion, a very moderate one, recommending the rechartering of the oil fields for a 25-year period, and recommending that the question be referred to the League of Nations for its own consideration. The League did not agree to the British demand for the oil fields, but the British made polite threats of war if they did not, but for the moment Turkey has averted. Mosul will cause more trouble later, but the British, right or wrong, are still in possession.

MOST CIVILIZED NATION.

WILLIAM LYON PHELPS in the Outlook.

Scrutiny of the Magazine.

IF I had to name today the most civilized country in the world, I should name Sweden. Not only because of the way Sweden manages national and municipal affairs, and education, and hygiene; not only because she has not had a war for 139 years, but because she has not had a war for 139 years. Is there any other country that could have shown such statesmanship, wisdom, such understanding, such common sense? Good sense was displayed both by Sweden and Norway. That magnificent lion, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, who had been for Norwegian independence for 50 years, sent to his Government during the final negotiations this telegram: "Tell me what I can do to help." He received the answer: "Hold your tongue." The civilized world is sometimes served not by force, but by serenity. Sweden and Norway are an example of the peaceful adjustment of something that even most military statesmen think is beyond the possibility of arbitration—national honor—gained honor by concession.

BRAZIL AND THE RACE PROBLEM.

MELVILLE J. HERSKOVIS in the American Mercury for October.

IN BRAZIL anyone who has white blood is white. A negro is merely a pariah, a negro in the biological sense. The slavery in Brazil, and later than we had, but the change came about easily and was not forcibly imposed upon the slaves.

There had been no social degradation of old days if one's ancestors had been slaves, and there was thus an easy mingling among the resulting people of all races, types, and much cross-breeding. In consequence of the different sociological conditions there is no stigma attached to negro blood such as obtain here. Mixed negroes are no discrimination—they mingle with whites on similar social levels, and there is no problem in Brazil.

APPLES AND POTATOES GAIN IN SHIPMENTS AND PRICE

Reaches From New York State Lower Than Week Ago, Says Government Report.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Apples and potatoes are now the leaders of the marketing movement of fruits and vegetables throughout the United States. The Government Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported today that in particular the movement of apples has been gaining volume rapidly. Total shipments for the week being 5601 carloads as compared with 4228 a week ago.

Big shipments of potatoes are also in progress, averaging close to 1000 carloads a day. In this connection, special notice is being taken of reports from Wisconsin that the market outlook for potatoes in the central part of the State is the best in years, with some estimates that a yield of 150 to 200 bushels an acre is likely.

Notwithstanding the great and increasing supply of apples and potatoes, the tendency of the whole list of fruits and vegetables, peaches excepted, is to higher prices following a downward trend of fully a month. The report says the change of trend may be only the usual rebound after a long drop, and that it seems rather early for a sustained move upward. Demand has been active, however, both for storage and for consumers as well.

Most of the peach supply at present is coming from New York, with values 50c to $1 less than quotations a week ago. On the other hand, grape prices are holding their own, advancing in some markets. Concord grapes from Michigan in 12-quart clamshell baskets have reached $8 to 9c wholesale in Chicago, with New York concords held at $5c to $1.

BARGE LINE TO THE NORTH TO BE OPENED IN SPRING

Members of Upper Mississippi Committee Here on Inspection Trip Tell of Plans for Service.

BUSINESS MEN TO BACK ENTERPRISE

Shippers of Minneapolis and St. Paul Decide Not to Await Decision in Goltra Controversy.

A barge line on the Upper Mississippi, adequate to tap the tremendous markets of the Northwest, is planned for operation when the ice goes out next spring, two members of the Upper River Mississippi Barge Committee said yesterday upon their arrival to inspect river traffic and equipment here, as bearing upon equipment to be installed for the Upper River.

This is a goal for which Northern shippers have striven for years, and has been under consideration by the Government since the Federal line was established on the lower river. It was provided in the lease by which Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis obtained possession of a fleet built as a wartime emergency that they should be operated above St. Louis, even if possession were restored to the Government.

Showing of $230,518 profit by the Federal line in the first seven months this year has persuaded shippers of the Twin Cities not to wait for decision of the Goltra-Government controversy in the Supreme Court, but to put their own fleet in operation. Willard W. Morse, secretary of the committee and president of the Security Warehouse Co. at Minneapolis, said:

Inspecting Barge Facilities.

Morse was accompanied by A. R. Ehl, traffic expert, representing interests of Moline, Ill., on the committee. They departed last night to inspect barge line facilities at Memphis, thence to see facilities for Ohio River shipping at Louisville and Pittsburgh. Their plan to make St. Louis the southern terminus for transshipment to and from those points, besides the Gulf, Atlantic and Pacific coasts and foreign countries, would throw a huge tonnage to the Federal Line.

"The Twin cities are the 'gate of the Northwest,' just as St. Louis is the 'gate of the Southwest,'" Morse said. "Back in those North-western States is a vast territory to open to river traffic. A large surplus of oats and barley is produced there. Stock growers along the lower river and in Texas need that grain, and both they and the Northern shipper need the saving in freight costs of river transportation."

"We consume enormous quantities of sisal, coffee, sugar and ore—commodities which form the bulk of the upstream traffic to St. Louis. If the projected improvement of the Big Muddy through the Illinois coal fields goes through, we can bring coal to Minneapolis for $1.50 to $1.75 a ton. The present freight rate is $3.75 a ton."

Effect of Panama Canal.

"The Panama Canal has upset the equilibrium of freight rates. Northern transcontinental railroads, deprived of revenue from Oriental freights, have shifted their burden to the farmer. Our sugar, coffee, salmon and sisal come overland. New York and Baltimore are our principal ocean ports, when we have a river at our door running straight to New Orleans, to give us the benefit of inexpensive transportation and inter-port competition."

"Most of our coffee and sugar comes through New York. Rail-and-water handling necessitates transferring from railroad to boats at Duluth and back to railroad at Buffalo. Once we had the benefit of competition on the lakes, but now the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads have combined in the Great Lakes Transit Co."

Conditions of Channel.

Equipment for the Upper River, under present channel conditions, would need to be of much lighter draft even than the Goltra equipment, which was designed for that service but found suited only to Lower River conditions. The minimum depth immediately below the Twin Cities, and also at the Rock Island rapids, is 4 1/2 feet.

"Major-General Harry Taylor, Chief of Army Engineers, was a guest of business men of the Twin Cities last week and was told that a dam at the mouth of the St. Croix River, 30 miles below St. Paul and 40 below Minneapolis, would give a 4 1/2-foot channel," Morse said. "Congress has authorized Upper River improvement. It now remains for the Army Engineers to suggest an appropriation, subject to Congress' final approval."

There is Only One System of HOME HEATING

That Enables You to Control and Maintain the Correct Air Conditions in the Home

THE poet has said—"What is so rare as a day in June?" But what is so remarkable about a day in June that it should be singled out for special mention? Four things—the air is of pleasing temperature, it carries the correct amount of moisture, it is pure and clean, and the gentle breezes keep it in constant movement and circulation. These, then, are the ideal air conditions that the poets sing about and that physicians say are most desirable to good health and long life.

In the summer, when all the windows can be open, these same ideal air conditions, to a large extent, prevail within the house. But when winter comes, when the windows are tightly closed, and you depend on your heating plant for warmth, what then? Unless the heating plant is so designed as to control and maintain the proper air condition, there is little or no circulation, no ventilation, no humidity—the air in the home is stale, dry and stiff—causing furniture to crack, plants to wither and die, wall paper to curl from the walls—and more important, is the detrimental effect on the health of a family, causing a feeling of discomfort and listlessness, lowered vitality, and increased susceptibility to coughs, colds and other ailments.

In the opinion of many prominent physicians, heating experts and scientific investigators, a Warm Air Heating System, properly installed and properly operated, is far superior to any other heating system in existence at this time.

It is the one system by means of which the air conditions can be easily regulated and are under constant control.

It ventilates as it heats, maintaining a constant movement of air throughout the house.

It automatically supplies the percentage of moisture in the air necessary to good health.

It can be automatically regulated so as to require the minimum of attention.

It is quick in operation—the warm air is pouring from the register within seven minutes after the fire is started.

The cost of installation is less than any other system, and maintenance costs are practically negligible.

It utilizes no furniture space in the house; adds practically no weight to the building.

In planning the heating system for your home, profit by the long experience of thousands of home owners and by the opinion of many of the best minds in the scientific field—and specify a Warm Air Heating System installed in accordance with the Standard Code.

The Standard Code is a set of regulations adopted by the National Warm Air Heating and Ventilating Association, governing the installation of Warm Air Heating Furnaces in residences. It specifies exactly how and where your Warm Air Heating System must be installed in order to give you that 100% service and satisfaction for which it is so admirably designed.

A copy of the Standard Code and further information on the heating problem will be sent free on request. Address E. E. Krommacker, Secretary, Seventh Floor, Board of Education Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

Primitive Man Ate Flesh, Says Anthropologist

Fighting Instinct Was Dominant, and Envy, Self-Preservation and Women Furnished Motives for War.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright 1917 by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—"Primitive man had one great instinct—he would fight on any provocation, sometimes for sheer wantonness." That is the verdict of Dr. Alex. Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology at the National Museum in Washington, who has just arrived here from his research expedition to the famous "Rhodesia Man's Cave" at Broken Hill, Rhodesia.

"We have now enough evidence," he continued, "to form a pretty accurate estimate of the outlook of the primitive man, and that outlook was dominated by his ideas of war. There were many reasons why he should develop that trait. The first was preservation. Second was the fact that an insufficiency of common morality failed to teach one tribe where its hunting practices ended and where its neighbors began.

"Encroachment was constant, with resultant tribal wars. Then again there was the quality, still common to all humanity, of envy and emulation. One tribe would fight another simply to show how superior it was in strength and young men.

"Finally there was the eternal question of womenfolk. Moreover, the primitive young man of those times was not thought worthy of taking a woman to wife until he had killed a lion or crocodile or some other animal of prey.

"All our knowledge of the personal habits of primitive man must necessarily remain speculative, but I think there is no question but that they were flesh eaters, for the bones of animals found in the 'Rhodesia Man's' cave are obviously the relics of primeval feasting."

FIVE PARADES A FEATURE OF LEGION'S CONVENTION

Every Available Body of Troops in Seventh Corps Area to Take Part in March.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 19.—Five large parades, each vying with the other in interest and unusual features, will garnish the American Legion National Convention to be held here Oct. 5 to 9.

On Tuesday morning the visiting Legionnaires will parade, led by combat Generals and Admirals of the war. Two hundred and fifty bands and from 750 to 1000 drums and bugle corps will march with the former service men.

Wednesday night, the Legionnaires and citizens of Omaha will be treated to the annual Ak-Sar-Ben electrical parade.

Thursday will be the big day for parades. On this day the military parade, including captured German and Austrian war materials and every available body of troops in the Seventh Army Corps area, will be held. This will be followed in the evening by the parade of "Forty and Eighters," the playground organization of the Legion.

Some time Thursday the most unusual parade of all will be held—that of the "mutt" dogs which have been entered in the contest staged by the Colorado members of the Forty and Eight. Hundreds of mongrel dogs of every color, size and description, will march.

Golden Wedding Celebrated. Mrs. and Mrs. E. W. Schmidt of Alton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday at their home. The couple were married in Alton and have spent their entire wedded life in that city. The house in which they were married is still standing.

Bloating Quickly Relieved

That distressed, full feeling which so many people have after eating is caused by pent-up gas in the stomach and bowels. Very often the stomach is expanded so much that it presses against the heart and interferes with the circulation.

As a result you feel drowsy or "dopey"—perhaps your hands and feet grow numb. Sharp jabs of pain may be felt in the heart region, accompanied by palpitation, shortness of breath, faintness, extreme nervousness, anxiety or a spell of choking and gagging.

The safest and surest way to rid the discomfort arising from excessive gas in the stomach is to take Bell's Colic, Wind and Gas Expeller. This pleasant, fragrant little tablet is usually very efficacious in relieving your distressing symptoms, so relieve your discomfort.

Genuine Bell's Colic, Wind and Gas Expeller is the only tablet—its name is on the wrapper—that is sold in the United States.

It is sold in the United States by J. C. Bell, Inc., 1000 Broadway, New York City.

STATE CAN AID NEW BRIDGE PROJECT

Highway Board Has Power to Finance Approaches Assistant Attorney General Files

Jefferson City, Sept. 29.—The State Highway Commission has authority to expend money from the $20,000,000 State Road Bond issue for construction of a long Clay County approach to a proposed Kansas City-Clay County bridge across the Missouri River, Assistant Attorney General George W. Chandler filed an opinion favorable to the commission. The commission sought a ruling as to whether it could expend road money for such a purpose.

A movement has been started in Kansas and Clay Counties to raise a bond issue to build a five-mile approach to the Missouri River at Kansas City. The only bridge now available to crossing traffic across the Missouri River at Kansas City. The commission plans to expend the money for the bridge, and the Highway Commission plans to expend the money for the bridge, and the Highway Commission plans to expend the money for the bridge.

REAR ADMIRAL ROBINSON RETURNS TO FORMER RANK

Ends Four-Year Term as Bureau
Chief, Had Charge of Naval Off Reserves Under Secretary Denby

Washington, Sept. 29.—Rear Admiral A. K. Robinson, a former member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, returned to his former rank of Rear Admiral today and reported to his regular rank of Captain. He had requested permission to retire before relinquishing his bureau post, but this was refused by President Coolidge.

His commission was granted at 10 a. m. today and he retired as a Rear Admiral, the rank he held at the time of his resignation. Although in his commission Robinson was promoted to Rear Admiral, his name was not changed in the official records. He will receive automatically in a year under the age limit law.

Robinson was the officer selected by Secretary Denby to represent him in many of the negotiations conducted by the Interior Department under Secretary Denby. ## THANK YOU for the greatest reception ever accorded a line of automobiles

Last month Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick and Cadillac presented a series of cars better in appearance, higher in quality and lower in price than ever before.

General Motors assumed responsibility for the public statement that these cars "represent the greatest values ever offered in the history of the industry."

The proof of that statement has been furnished by the public response. Every General Motors factory is running at capacity. Indications point to the largest September business in General Motors' history.

We thank the public for this splendid patronage. It is justified by the car values. Immense economies are possible in an organization like General Motors, which enjoys every advantage of quantity production and sells in every market of the world. Only through such economies would it have been possible to produce quality cars at prices so low.

FREE STATE THEATER GRANTED ANNUAL SUBSIDY

Conference of the Associated Press. DUBLIN, Sept. 29.—The Free State possesses in the Abbey Theater the first and only state-endowed theater in any English-speaking country. The Free State has granted it an annual subsidy of $1750.

Senator William Butler Yeats, the poet and Nobel prize winner, hopes that America will follow the example thus initiated in the Free State, since theaters are an important part of endowed education and where not endowed may have to lower their quality through the struggle for existence. Yeats says there is no European country where the plays produced in the Abbey Theater have not been performed, and some of them have even been translated into original languages.

Finance Minister Blythe, acknowledging the thanks of the Abbey Theater for the subsidy, granted, said he had been a regular attendant at the Abbey for the past 20 years, and considered that it was doing a work of national importance.

OPERATION MAY BE MADE ON CHILD WHO SWALLOWED PIN

Medical Treatment Fails to Remove It From Stomach; Two Other Cases.

An abdominal operation may be necessary to remove an open safety pin from the stomach of Robert Kershner, 9-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Kershner, 1448 Chambers street, who swallowed the pin yesterday morning.

X-ray examination at City Hospital yesterday disclosed the pin in the child's stomach and efforts were made to remove it through medicinal means. This treatment so far has been unsuccessful, and an operation may be decided upon following a second X-ray examination today.

Efforts will also be made at City Hospital today to remove a piece of broken glass from the throat of Catherine Meyer, 10 months old, who was brought to the hospital this morning by her mother, Mrs. Bertha Meyer, 1038A Emmet street. Mrs. Meyer told physicians the child swallowed glass from a broken nursing bottle at their home shortly before 8 a. m. today.

An ambulance was called at 5:30 a. m. today to convey Lillian Sommer, 7 years old, from her home, 2246 Warren street, to City Hospital to have a candy lollipop, which had lodged in her throat, removed. The lollipop dissolved during the trip to the hospital and Lillian was returned home after an examination by physicians.

LABOR PARTY IN BRITAIN BARS ADMISSION OF COMMUNISTS

Proper Course for Reds to Create Own Organization, Ramsey MacDonald Tells Conference.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 20.—In no uncertain way the Parliamentary Labor party, in conference here yesterday registered its refusal to countenance the admission of communists to the party. The Executive Committee's resolutions against either affiliation or individual membership were carried by majorities of about 9 to 1, the first vote being 2,954,000 to 321,000.

Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier, put the matter quite plainly in declaring that the communists' thesis "that the workers should prepare, not for an easy parliamentary victory, but for victory by a heavy civil war" was an impossible thesis for the Labor party. He argued that the proper course of the communists was to create their own party.

The red section received another heavy setback this morning with the defeat of a resolution by which they planned to open an attack upon MacDonald for his procedure regarding the notorious Zinovieff letter while he was Prime Minister. One part of the resolution demanded that the labor executive send an apology to the soviet Government and M. Zinovieff through MacDonald, since the executive had been unable to prove the authenticity of the letter which advocated overthrow of the British Government.

CONFER ON COAL STRIKE

Scranton Committee Closed With Lewis Four Hours.

By the Associated Press.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 20.—Hope that the groundwork for a resumption of operations in the anthracite mining field had been laid was expressed by members of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce Committee after a four-hour conference behind closed doors here last night with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Although no statement other than that the outlook was hopeful was issued by the committee, its members said that within a few days they expected to hold another conference with Lewis with definite results.

HELD UP ON BUSY DOWNTOWN STREET

Youthful Messenger Forced to Give Up $47 to Negro Armed With Knife.

About 20 policemen and detectives were rushed to Ninth and Locust streets shortly before 11 a. m. today on receipt of a telephoned report that a bank messenger had been held up there. Inquiry showed that Clifford Hohl, a messenger for the Monroe Foreign Forwarding Co., Arcade Building, had been accosted near this corner by a negro who took $47 of the company's money from him.

Hohl, who is 35, was old and resides at 821 East Prairie avenue, was on his way to the Mercantile Trust Co. He said that the negro, a youth armed with a knife, stopped him in the rush of pedestrians on the north side of Locust street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, and made him go in an alley leading to St. Charles street. There, Hohl said, the negro took the $47 cash from him, but let him keep $169 in checks.

Then, Hohl related, the robber made him accompany him for several blocks in the vicinity, finally telling him to hurry away at Eleven and Pine streets. "He just told me to keep on walking and do as he said," Hohl declared.

SECRET DRY LAW AGENTS
New Methods of Enforcing Prohibition in Hawaii Announced.
By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, Sept. 30.—Prohibition enforcement in Hawaii has taken a new turn with announcement of officials that "under cover" agents would be employed hereafter.

Seven secret agents will don evening clothes and attend social functions. Other men will trail prominent citizens carrying hip pocket flasks in the hope that the trails will lead to the doors of their favorite bootleggers. It was declared that the program would be a permanent one, and that effort would be made to give publicity to the names of liquor buyers.

GAIN IN TREND OF BUSINESS THIS MONTH

Situation in Agricultural Sections Less Favorable Than in August.

The general trend of business in this section of the country for the past 30 days was "decidedly in the direction of further improvement," according to the monthly review issued today by the Eighth Federal Reserve District. Almost every line under survey showed a gain in sales it is stated.

"While the situation in the agricultural sections is somewhat less favorable than a few days earlier, due to reduced crop yields caused by the unprecedented high temperatures and drought during late August and early September, the purchasing power of farmers is high and well above that of the preceding three months," the report says. "Prices being received for agricultural products are in the main satisfactory and are bringing good profits to their producers."

Increase in Retail Trade.
"Retail distribution in the large cities during August shows an increase of 13 per cent over the corresponding period in 1923, the largest gain recorded in many months. The protracted warm weather resulted in an unusually thorough clearance of summer goods."

"Slight improvement is reported in employment. Generally through the district skilled artisans in the building trades are fully employed and road construction work continues to absorb large numbers of common laborers. Relatively the best gains are recorded in the coal mining areas."

"In the principal coal fields of the district the past 30 days were marked by quite distinct improvement," the report says. "The season of the year considered, demand for Illinois, Indiana and West Kentucky coals was exceptionally good, and the general tendency was toward higher prices, particularly for the better grades. The anthracite strike, which became effective Sept. 1, has stimulated accumulation of reserves by consumers. In the Illinois field schedules at the shaft mines have been enlarged, and most of the strip pits are on full time."

PRISONERS AT CLAYTON JAIL TO BE CHECKED TWICE DAILY
Precaution Taken as Result of Escape of Two Men Monday.
Used Saws to Gain Liberty.
No trace has been found of two prisoners who escaped from the county jail at Clayton Monday, their disappearance having been undiscovered until yesterday. As a result of their flight, the sheriff's office has decided to have the jailer check the presence of all prisoners morning and evening hereafter.

Other prisoners at the jail are to be questioned about how the escaped men obtained and used saws to gain their freedom. Those who escaped are Charles Heuer, former convict, alleged aspirant for leadership of the Egan gang and suspected in the $5000 robbery of the Old Orchard Bank last May, and Albert May, who was awaiting sentence following his plea of guilty to burglary and larceny. Because Heuer is known to police it is thought his reappearance should be easy.

The 22 prisoners in the jail were given their usual privilege of the "bull pen" inside the second floor of the jail Monday. Heuer and May cut two one-inch iron bars of the pen and made their way through a passage, down a staircase and through an open iron door into the basement. Apparently before the other prisoners were put back in their cells at 4:30 p. m. Then, seemingly, they stayed in the basement till dark and cut two window bars to get outside.

TRAINMEN APPROVE SAFETY MOVEMENT, UNION HEAD SAYS
Skepticism as to Effect of Plan on Drainage Cases Overcome by Contribution to Life Saving.
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30.—Railroaders were cynical when the transportation lines of the country first volunteered to aid in saving the lives and limbs of their employees, but the movement now has the approval of 180,000 rail men, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, emphasized in an address today before the National Safety Council.

"Our men were advised to obey every word of every rule before moving a car which they knew could not be done with rapid car movement," Lee continued. "They naturally looked for effects of the safety first propaganda in suits for injuries wherein it would be set up that the employee had violated a rule which released the employer from responsibility.

"We were fearful of the movement, but time has worked out a better understanding of safety practices. It has been found that safety first does not operate against recovery of damage cases, and has contributed its full share toward saving the lives of our train and yard men."

MEXICAN LABOR READY TO HELP FOREIGNERS
Secretary Morones Says Capital Need Not Fear Strikes Among Workers.

Special in the Post-Dispatch.
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—Louis Morones, secretary of labor and leader of the regional confederation of labor, said today if foreign capital adopts appropriate attitude toward Mexico they will have no need to fear Mexican organized labor.

As regarding the supposed apprehension of capital of Mexican strikes an advanced labor program, Senior Morones replied:

"If foreign capital comes to Mexico with a spirit of co-operation and in harmony with the needs of Mexico and the necessities of the laboring classes here, such capital need not fear that organized labor in Mexico will place any obstacles before it."

Americans May Join.
The secretary stated emphatically that Mexican labor was organized both for the improvement of the condition of the workers and the development of all Mexico and said it therefore desired co-operation and support both before the workers and capital.

Senior Morones said the regional confederation of labor and the American Federation of labor had reached an agreement under which Mexican workers in the United States and all Americans in Mexico may join labor bodies in the respective countries, each organization guaranteeing the same treatment to native and foreign members. He added however, that the regional confederation and the Mexican Government desire to discourage workers from going to the United States.

Bankers Convinced.
Senior Morones declared that while there were few unskilled workers in Mexico, American skilled mechanics, engineers and the like in the country must realize that they cannot be given here better wages or better treatment than similarly qualified Mexicans. He expressed the utmost satisfaction over the agreement between the regional confederation and the American Federation of labor, which he pronounced mutually beneficial, and appreciation of the courtesies of the labor leaders and Government officials and others accorded him during his recent visit to the United States.

Good Will--

We feel justified in claiming that there is no commodity today that carries more of that intangible value called "Good Will" than does sole leather.

The tanning of sole leather, in this country, is an American Industry. In its history appear the names of leaders in our nation's wonderful growth. The founders of our industry were men who sought freedom in this new world, who fought for independence, whose high ideals founded our craft upon a basis of fair dealings and honest merchandise. The aspirations and the traditions of those pioneers have been handed down from father to son to the men who guide us today, many of whom are descendants of those early settlers whose tan-yards were a stone's throw from Wall Street and who stripped their bark in the forests of Manhattan Isle.

"Good Will" has been termed the "Personality of Business." As an asset in the sole leather industry it is invaluable. Could it be translated into dollars, it would reach figures hard to comprehend.

We do not have to hesitate or equivocate when we say that

SPEEDERS' CASES

"FIXED" OUT OF COURT

Eighteen Deputies, Unable to Make Living, Withdrawn by Constable Roth.

Constable George Roth of Central Township, St. Louis County, announced today he was withdrawing 18 of his 20 deputy Constables from the roads they have been patrolling for speeders because so many of those arrested were successful in "fixing" their cases without paying court costs. As a result of this, he said, the deputies' freedom received the fee of $1.50 for making the arrests, which is to come out of the $7.50 court costs and were not earning "even enough to pay their board."

It was pointed out by Roth that last March Prosecuting Attorney Mueller of St. Louis County ruled that according to law a deputy Constable could receive only one fee of $1.50 per day since this fee was technically a witness fee. The Prosecuting Attorney declared the statutes made it illegal for a witness to testify in more than one case on the same day. This worked a hardship on the deputies, Roth said.

"When a case never goes to trial because it is fixed outside of court, of course my men receive no fees," Roth declared today. "Many of the arrests they made were simply a waste of time because a friend of the arrested would see some official and get the case dismissed. My men were not making even enough to pay their board." Considerable sentiment was aroused a few months ago when Roth's office put on a campaign for glaring headlights. Hundreds of motorists were forced to wait in line until their lights were tested, and if they were found to be defective, court costs were levied against the motorists.

NEW FRENCH OFFENSIVE IN THE RIFF REPORTED SUCCESS

Important Heights of De Kerkour Said to Have Been Taken Easily. By the Associated Press. FEZ, Morocco, Sept. 30.—The French began a new offensive against the Riffian tribesmen in the eastern sector this morning. The operations were quite successful, the French claim, their troops easily taking the important heights of De Kerkour, North Kifans, on the bank of the River Chouf. The French continued to advance in a direction dominating the Djebel known.

TANGIER, Sept. 30.—Tetuan, capital of Spanish Morocco, was heavily shelled by the rebel Moroccan, using 75-millimeter guns, Monday night, according to advices reaching here today.

The bombardment was directed against the city from the hills to the southeast. The Spaniards admit casualties of seven killed or wounded. Some animals also were hit, and buildings were damaged.

The Spanish artillery replied to the Riffian fire by shelling over the town from the hills to the north of Tetuan. Eventually the rebels' guns were silenced. It is not known what casualties were inflicted on the Riffians.

The rebel bombardment is believed to be a counter-move to the Spanish advance from the Alhucemas Bay region on Ajdir, Abdel-Krim's capital, which is within four miles of the Spanish lines. The Riffians apparently have taken advantage of the reduced garrison defending Tetuan.

FAVORS LEGISLATION FOR SELECTIVE MILITARY SERVICE

Gen. Delafield, President of Reserve Officers' Association, Addresses St. Louis Chapter.

Gen. John Ross Delafield, New York lawyer, and president of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, speaking to the St. Louis chapter of the organization at dinner at the Missouri Athletic Association last evening, favored legislation by Congress to provide for selective military service. This measure would take effect at the President's discretion, and would make it possible to provide for an emergency without the delay of waiting for legislation.

He suggested also new legislation providing for contracts for supplies and munitions at fixed minimum prices. These measures, he said, should be supplemented by the recruiting of National Guard commands to twice the present strength, and by the acquisition of reserve supplies.

As a measure of the extent of preparedness needed, Gen. Delafield told of the long coast lines of this country, the vulnerability of the Panama Canal, and the uncertainties of naval defense, in view of the increasing importance of aircraft. The present first-line forces, a regular army of 120,000 and National Guard forces of 180,000, would not meet these demands, he said.

He said there was no certainty that future wars involving this nation would not arise, and that preparedness would not incite to war, but might prevent war and would avert waste. He is on his way to the national gathering of reserve officers, to open Friday in Kansas City.

The board decided to try this arrangement, to save money.

MUSSOLINI'S PAPER SUSPENDS

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

ROME, Sept. 30.—The Rome edition of Popolo d'Italia, Mussolini's personal organ, published its last number last night. Its place in Roman journalism will be taken by Popolo di Roma, a new Fascist journal which appeared for the first time Thursday morning. The Rome edition of Popolo d'Italia was established a year ago. The paper was founded by the present Premier in Milan several years ago. It is now edited by his brother, Arnaldo.

Other changes in Roman journalism are expected in the near future. It is believed Tribuna, an independent paper and mouthpiece for the Foreign Office, will pass into Fascist hands.

School Tax Conference.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 30.—Educational leaders of Missouri have been called to meet here Oct. 6, with Gov. Baker, for a conference on the Governor's proposal to submit an initiative measure at the 1926 election to establish a permanent State tax to provide revenue for the support of the educational system. The Governor would create a separate fund to go only to the University of Missouri, the five State teacher colleges, other higher schools of the Missouri educational system and the public schools.

FAMILY ROUTED BY FIRE

Damage to Two Broadway Stores Estimated at $4000. Harry Schatz, proprietor of a millinery store at 1230 South Broadway, and his wife, were routed from their living quarters above the store at 11:55 p. m. yesterday when Policeman Morizmeier discovered fire on the third floor of the place and aroused the sleepers. They took refuge with neighbors. The fire caused damage estimated at $4000 to the store and living quarters and spread to the adjoining dry goods store of Abe Blustein, 1232 South Broadway, where $2200 damage was reported. The cause of the fire was not determined.

NINE VITAL FACTS

Here, in brief form, we present for your information nine vital facts underlying the success of Dodge Brothers, Inc., and the goodness and value of their product.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., consider these facts so fundamentally important to the motor car buyer that they will be repeated, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The purchase of an automobile is a serious and important business. The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth.

A few of these essentials are clearly outlined above. They go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

Y'S Another 7000 Crowd at Races; Silver Spur Wins

Even Money in First Event — Track in Best Condition So Far.

By Dent McKimming.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
FAIRMOUNT RACETRACK, Collinsville, Ill., Sept. 30.—If the size of the crowd is a reliable barometer of the interest felt by St. Louisans in their new racetrack, the venture should prove a big success, for the attendance today, the fourth day of the meeting, was equally as large as on Monday and Tuesday.

It was estimated that there were 7,000 persons on the grounds when the horses went to the post in the first race at five minutes before 2 o'clock.

The track was in the best condition so far.

The crowd had half assembled before the silver spur, which had not been ridden high by the students of form, would be the good thing in the first race. The wise ones said, "I told you so," when the horses had finished the five-furlong race, for Silver Spur was an easy winner, with Lou Shanks second and Teenie third. Silver Spur led all the way. He paid even money.

ENTRIES FOR WOMEN'S DISTRICT GOLF MEET TO CLOSE TOMORROW

Entries for the St. Louis District women's golf championship tournament, which will be played next week over the Westwood Country Club course, will close tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. This announcement was made today by Mrs. Maurice O'Leary, whose address is Rural Route No. 1, Box 175, St. Louis County.

As has been the practice in the men's district tournament, a team of six women will be eligible to represent the Municipal Golf Association.

Mrs. Robert Mayer, chairman of the women's golf committee at Westwood, will be chairman of the tournament committee.

ED THORPE'S FOOTBALL FEATURE NO. 8 WILL APPEAR IN TOMORROW'S POST-DISPATCH

Another futile attempt to popularize the sport was the reduction of gate assessments. Running races, because of their more recent popularity, and their attendant publicity, have been the main attraction in the program. Others say that the young generation cares more for automobiles and football and finds the bulky team.

Attendance at the Grand Circuit here this fall, track officials say, has fallen off 40 per cent as compared with last year. Their attempt to put spice into the program by putting variety into the distances has not proved successful.

4 County High School Teams to Play Saturday

Clayton to Meet C. B. C. While Normandy Will Oppose Roosevelt Eleven.

Four of the schools in the County High School League have football games scheduled for Saturday. Clayton will meet Christian Brothers' College on the latter's field while Normandy will play Roosevelt on the city school's gridiron. Both games will start at 10 a. m. Ritenour and Kirkwood will clash at Kirkwood and Maplewood will play at 3 p. m.

The Webster-Soldan game was called off for lack of a playing field. It is a ruling of the City League that no team shall enter into competition outside of the city limits. This ruling is not iron-clad, however, for the local schools have met at all sorts of Washington University, which is outside the city boundary. Games have been scheduled with Principia to be played on the Academy's new field in Kirkwood.

Wellston and McBride will scrimmage Saturday morning at Wellston.

Webster Line Strengthened.

The addition of Strain last year's center, who reported for practice yesterday, has strengthened the Webster line. This school's forward defense was noticeably lacking in aggressive play in the East St. Louis game, which Webster won 19 to 6. Coach Roberts is building an eleven around Capt. Thornton, a tackle; Wood, a guard; Boswell, a guard; Timberlake, an end; and Timmerman, Green, Hack and Tread, backfield men. All of these players are veterans from last year.

Normandy looks good with eight veterans returning: Capt. Dammerman and Pancoast, backs; Thelme and Zell, end; Kennicott and Still, tackles; Johnson a guard and Surkamp, a center for the group. Coach Green states that Kimmel, a guard, and Nettleton and Burton, backs, will complete the eleven that starts against Roosevelt Saturday.

Clayton to Play C. B. C.

Led by Capt. Boldt, the Clayton team will open its season against C. B. C. Lewis, fullback; Chase, halfback; Creach and Whitmore, end; Jablonsky, tackle; Miller, guard, and McAttee, center, are Clayton holdovers from last year. It is probable that Whitmore will play in the backfield Saturday, although Coach Hall is uncertain about the starting lineup.

Coach Blanchard has seven men back from last year as a nucleus for a Ritenour team. They are: Capt. Mahary, quarter; Marshall and Black, half; Peetony, end; Kuhn, tackle, and Veli, center. The championship baseball team last spring boosted athletics at Ritenour, so that a larger number of men reported for duty this fall than ever before. The test of the new material will come this week, when Ritenour backs Kirkwood.

FAVORITES FACE HARD MATCHES IN WOMEN'S U. S. GOLF TOUR

Mrs. Fraser to Oppose Mrs. Wall, Miss Collett To Play Canadian Star

Majority of First Round Matches Go According to Form — Mrs. Audrey Faust Wallace, St. Louis Hope, Eliminated in 20-Hole Match by Miss Virginia Wilson.

By John H. Alexander.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
ST. LOUIS COUNTRY CLUB, Sept. 30.—Victory for the large majority of the favorites and the defeat on the twentieth green of Mrs. Audrey Faust Wallace, the only St. Louisan to survive the qualifying round, by Miss Virginia Wilson, Chicago, were the outstanding features of the matches yesterday in the first round of the women's national golf tournament. The second round will start this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when Mrs. Alex Stirling Fraser of Ottawa, low medalist, and Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., tee off in the first of eight matches.

No more than one hole separated Mrs. Wallace and Miss Wilson throughout their 20-hole match, which was the most spectacular of the tournament thus far, the lead changing hands several times in the course of the competition. Four times on the first nine holes, the advantage shifted, the final appearing St. Louisan prevailing in the match on the ninth with a birdie five.

What appeared to be the climax of the match came on the seventh hole, with the score all even after Mrs. Wallace was prevented from taking the sixteenth by a perfectly laid styler. The local hope pitched her mangle niblick approach a distance of 30 feet from a bunker on a straight line for the cup. With her opponent one down going to 15, Mrs. Wallace lost her chance to take the match with a half when she purposely played her second shot short to avoid the deep bunker guarding the green and dubbed her third to the far side of the trap, from which position she took three additional strokes to hole out while her opponent won with a par five.

Putts Missed on No. 19.
Both missed fairly easy chances to take the first extra hole when Mrs. Wallace's 15-foot putt hung on the lip of the cup and Miss Wilson missed an easy one of about 5 feet. Miss Wilson's drive on the twentieth was perfect in direction, stopping about 30 feet from the pin on the green while Mrs. Wallace hooked into the sand trap on the left side of the green. The St. Louis hope made one of her characteristic beautiful recoveries from trouble, landing 12 feet from the cup, but missed a heartbreaking putt for a three. Miss Wilson played her second to within a few feet of the can and easily sank a three to take the match. Several hundred persons were in the gallery for the extra hole.

Another feature match was the one in which Mrs. Alex Stirling Fraser, former Atlanta girl and three-time champion, now of Ottawa, put out Miss Dorothy Klotz of Chicago, one up in 18 holes. The Chicago girl put up a stiff fight against the former titleholder and, although on the terms several times, was never able to head her opponent. Miss Klotz lost out on the short game, her drives equaling those of Mrs. Fraser's on all occasions, but her approaching being erratic and her putting spotty. Her opponent's putting though, being low her average, was good enough to win. Miss Klotz' eagle three on the eleventh hole resulted from one of the best putts of the day. It was a 40-foot, perfect in direction and speed, and squared the match.

Feature Matches Today.
Of the eight matches today, perhaps the best will be between Miss Gloria Collett of Providence, R. I., 1922 champion, and Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, Canada, titleholder. Miss Collett has played the most consistent golf of the two days of the tournament, turning in a score of 74 in the qualifying round for second place, and duplicating the feat yesterday in her match with Mrs. Caleb Fox. On the last few holes she relaxed, as her match was won, and missed several ordinarily easy putts.

While Miss Collett is one of the outstanding favorites to win the title, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, defending champion, showed yesterday that she is still to be reckoned with.

WOMEN'S TOURNEY NOTES

"That just about wins the match," said members of the gallery of the Wallace-Wilson match when the former St. Louisan, Audrey Faust of St. Louis, clipped her short mangle niblick approach into the cup on the seventeenth hole for a birdie three and a one-hole advantage. The Chicago girl, however, squared the match on the eighteenth green and won out on the twentieth hole. It was a good exhibition of steadiness under pressure.

While Mrs. Fraser and Miss Klotz were putting on the critical eighteenth green, a small delivery truck driving along the roadway came to a respectful stop with motor idling before the big gallery, in the manner of a truck accustomed to the amenities of country club life. Mrs. Fraser got up from slithering her putt and shouted: "Turn off that motor!" She then turned and in her easy, deliberate manner, sank the putt which meant the match.

The very best golfers are that way. A movie photographer, shifting his tripod for a better angle at the sixteenth green, got in the line of Mrs. Fraser's putt and held up proceedings for a moment. The whirling of several news cameras at this green, however, affected neither Mrs. Fraser nor her opponent, who easily sank moderately long putts.

Absolute silence on the part of the hundreds of spectators is required for each shot and persons who habitually cough when an opponent is reaching his high effort, manage to stifle it when near the green. The forced silence creates a certain tension which bursts forth in applause when the shot is well played, or sighs of sympathy when it goes wrong.

Advocates of bobbed hair who tout it for its advantages in athletics would be surprised to see the number of unbobbed heads in the tournament. Notably among these are Mrs. Wallace and Miss Wilson, not to overlook

Piker Line Weak For Battle With Drake Saturday

Front Wall Also Worries Billiken Coach—St. Louis U. Faces Teachers.

St. Louis University football followers can attend the Billiken's opening game of the season Saturday without any great worry, inasmuch as the Springfield teachers are not expected to offer much resistance to the Billiken machine. However, at Washington University there is an entirely different attitude as the student body prepares for the picknick inaugural.

While the Billikens are entertaining the Teachers, the poor Pikers will be trying to stop one of the strongest squads in the valley. Drake University always has a hard fighting team and this year the Bulldogs are said to be as formidable as ever, despite reports that several members of the varsity squad were declared ineligible at the last minute.

Coach Bob Higgins of the Pikers is fairly well satisfied with the way his attacking forces have been developing. His backfield gives promise of becoming a fighting force. But his line, thus far, has been a disappointment.

Neither local varsity coach is satisfied with the line, but Coach Dan Savoy of St. Louis U. will have until Oct. 10 to prepare his defense for the game against the University of Iowa, whereas Coach Higgins must whip his first line into shape by Saturday.

Practice yesterday was devoted at both camps to the defensive phases of football and withering image of the program for the rest of the week the coaching staffs of both institutions will concentrate on the plugging up of several weak spots in the forward line. The Piker freshmen yesterday showed too much power at breaking up interference and at stopping the charge of the linemen and as a result the Pikeaway varsity backs had to do most of their advancing on their own, or with help from their fellow backs.

No team can get very far unless the forward wall helps on the attack as well as the defense, and against a hard Piker wall, if it performs as it did yesterday, will have its troubles.

Mrs. Caleb Fox, whose head is whitened but unbowed, Mrs. Fraser's Auburn locks are shingled and Miss Mary Browne of Los Angeles an advocate of the prevailing mode.

An interprising aviator flew low over the Country Club grounds in the afternoon and arrived at the gate to spoil anyone's game, as most of the matches were then over.

"That's Stewart Maiden all over," said an old timer watching the form of Miss Alex Stirling drive. Maiden is professional at the Atlanta Club where Mrs. Fraser learned the game. He also developed player in the sport.

The Country Club grounds is probably the best policed district within several hundred miles during the tournament. About a dozen members of the traffic and motorcycle department are enjoying a vacation on the links. Officer Weingert, premier auto thief catcher of the traffic squad, assists in keeping the galleries at a respectable distance.

It is hardly likely that women will ever surpass men at golf. There are always several strong men in the course of 18 holes when an extra ounce of power would mean the saving of a stroke and their game is just that much inferior to man's. But how many men can go 77, which was the low medal score?

Where women excel is in the short game, particularly in the approach. Mrs. Wallace's holding out on No. 17 was merely the high light of a day of good approach work and Mrs. Carl Leibold, who was eliminated by Miss Wall, shot a 160-yard iron to a few feet from the pin on the ninth. Hagen would have been proud of it.

In driving, they average between 200 and 250 yards. This usually necessitates the use of a brassie for the second shot where a man's drive would enable him to play his second with the more accurate iron.

WET REPUBLICAN WINS IN COOLIDGE DISTRICT

Bowles, Prohibition Foe, Defeats 'Wine and Beer' Clergyman for Congress.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 30.—The election of Henry L. Bowles, Republican, of this city, over his Democratic opponent, Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, from President Coolidge's home district, adds to the ranks of the wets in the National House of Representatives.

Bowles' election yesterday came as a declaration by him that he believed the eighteenth amendment had no place in the Constitution and assurance that he would work for any change in the existing machinery for prohibition enforcement which would add to "temperance, contentment and respect for law."

The vote was: Bowles, 12,702; Sawyer, 9,167.

It was a special election to fill a vacancy caused by the death of George D. Churchill, Republican, of Amherst.

The prohibition issue was paramount throughout the campaign, with Bowles an admitted wet and Sawyer, a clergyman, leaning toward light wines and beer. William M. Forgrave, secretary of the State Anti-Saloon League, in an election eve statement, advised all drys to stay away from the polls "and thus register their protest against the candidates who boast of their wetness."

Confidence in the Republican camp throughout the campaign caused Bowles to refrain from talking the stump, while Sawyer, aided at the last moment by former Senator David I. Walsh and Chairman McChesney of the Democratic State Committee, made many appearances, condemning the administration for failure to "clean house" and for "retaining the Ohio gang in power."

LYAUTEY ONE OF GREATEST OF FRENCH EMPIRE BUILDERS

Veteran Administrator "Picked Morocco Out of Mud" and Gave It to France.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1925.
PARIS, Sept. 30.—The resignation of Marshal Lyautey, ends 30 years of service for the veteran administrator, who "picked Morocco out of the mud and gave it to France."

The resignation has been expected for many months, with the knowledge that Lyautey was willing to get out when the tide of the Riff war turned so he could be relieved of his post without any disgrace.

The Paris chiefs hated to embarrass the 72-year-old veteran, so they waited until the resignation could apparently come from him, though it is generally understood it would have been demanded from Paris sooner or later.

The first intimation that Lyautey was through came with the appointment of Marshal Pétain to take charge of military operations in Morocco in July, thus reducing Lyautey's authority to civil administration only.

Lyautey is generally considered one of the greatest of French empire builders and he leaves Morocco with the deep regret of everyone who watched his work during a whole generation to build up the country for civilized ideals.

On account of his age, Marshal Lyautey offered to resign in 1923 and again in 1924, but because of the growing Riff menace agreed to stick it out. Now he assumes the French victory is sure to come soon, and feels he can retire, stating in dispatches from Rabat: "I think that I can leave now, with every sense of confidence."

MOTOR CYCLE OFFICER HURT IN CRASH WITH STREET CAR

Patrolman Lester J. Klasing, 25, Suffers Fractures of the Skull, Leg and Thigh.

Motor Cycle Patrolman Lester J. Klasing, 25, of 1909 Withnell avenue, was seriously injured last night when he crashed head-on into a westbound Page car at Union boulevard. He is at the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium in a critical condition from fracture of the skull and fractured left leg and thigh.

Patrolman Klasing was off duty, but had arrested a speeder. While at the Page Station with his prisoner, a call came in for a patrolman to hurry to Kingshighway and Maple avenue, where men in an automobile were acting suspiciously. Patrolman Klasing volunteered to go on the call.

His motor cycle was headed northward in Union and made a sharp curve at high speed to turn east into Page and hit the street car, just coming to a stop at that corner.

Decision on Anglo-Indian Radical.
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The controversy over Shapurji Saklatvala, communist member of the British Commons whom the State Department barred from this country, interrupted proceedings of the interparliamentary union's council yesterday and threatened to present itself again when the Washington sessions open Thursday.

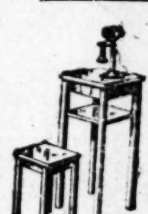

Acting on a protest from Saklatvala against what he called the "extraordinary step" by the United States Government in revoking his passport visa, the council adopted resolutions declaring "it recognized that the American Government has a right to enforce its own laws and therefore cannot discuss the merits or demerits of the case."

A copy of the resolutions was sent to Saklatvala.

THE WINE LADY

CHAPTER THIRTY.

THE Queen disclaimed this praise with pretty gestures of head and hands. She blew off lightly as a soap-bubble. No responsibility in such a case for a daughter of the Caesars.

"Oh, madam, you misunderstand. It is not for me to offer a suggestion. The saints forbid. This is but my opinion as a private woman. As Queen—you see my position. There must be many great English ladies whom we should welcome here as Ambassadors. Only—I cannot do wrong in expressing the hope that when the chosen comes in the future, the fair Emma in fact and talent, for there are dark days ahead in Europe, and if I mistake not the Mediterranean will be the scene of great events. The Queen of France, my sister, writes to me—no, I dare not repeat her words. But if any one imagines that this raging fire of revolution can be shut up in France and spread no further, he is heavily mistaken."

Her eyes darkened and she looked away through the flowers. The Duchess, with no more imagination than the rest of her countrymen and the conviction that because things were well enough already with England they would so remain, passed this off with an indifferent remark on the growing incivility of France and the danger of unsettling religion, and in a moment the Queen had drawn the mask over her face again and was talking of the new excavations at Pompeii.

But the conversation dwelt in the Duchess' mind. Every day convinced her more strongly that Hamilton doted upon the wonder-girl. Why should he not be happy in his own way? A little courage and the thing was done. There was no doubt whatever in her mind that it would very much ease his own public position as well as Emma's. The Queen's words left little anxiety at that point. She resolved to speak yet more plainly.

When Emma returned to her Hamilton praise of the Queen was loud on her lips. She was saying a stateswoman and saw in all that had passed merely a tribute to her own graces, and wrote to that effect to Greville in her next news-letter. It pleased her easy-going good humor to write to him from time to time and relate these trifle. Like many women of her type, past was past with her, and unpleasant associations soon dwindled in a comfortable haze of indifference. He really did not matter particularly to her now, but it was agreeable to her to know how highly placed people considered what he had rejected.

This letter gave Greville a vague uneasiness to which he had long been a stranger, the more so because it also sounded the loud trumpet about the Duchess of Argyll's condemnation of him. Emma was climbing indeed!

But to Hamilton her report gave food for deep reflection. He knew Marie Caroline very well. Never a word of hers but was uttered with purpose and tended to some clearly seen end of her own. He listened, reflected, and went off in a day or two to the Villa Columba to see the Duchess.

She was lying in the languor of weak health on a long chair in the glorious gardens, shaded from the heat of the sun by a pale pink and sun-warded air that breathed about her. One of her women had been reading aloud to her and Sir William picked up the book when she was dismissed: "Clarissa, the History of a Young Lady of Quality," by Samuel Richardson.

"It is somewhat of an old-fashioned book now," said the Duchess, "but choice good, as I think, and in my busy life I never had time for it before. Do you know it?"

"Certainly, but I was always inclined to think it over-strained and impossible. How does your Grace today?"

"Well, but no better. I think I never shall be better. My duties are not a long-lived race—think of my sister's 27 years. Indeed, I have exceeded my span, but if I fade as gently as I do now in the sweet land, I need not complain."

He responded with real feeling. She charmed him as beautiful things never failed to do, and the pathos of her fading loveliness was poignant.

They talked for a while of family matters very well known to them both, she slowly and steadily leading the way to the subject on her mind. It was the more interesting to her because Emma had devoted the whole of the day before to her service, as she often did now, and there was gratitude mixed with many other considerations.

LADY HAMILTON AS GRACE

FROM THE MARCH BY G. BARRY

"Who can tell? In any case, the Queen spoke in a way which said—"

"May I hear what she said?"

"She related it plainly and simply, not emphasizing a word, adding as she finished—"

"My impression is that it would be a relief at the Court here if your relations with Emma were on a more regular footing. No, cousin—don't throw your head up! Don't be angry! No one has the right to interfere with your private life or prescribe, yet it must be owned that it is a delicate matter for the Queen and that an Ambassador at the Palazzo Strozzi would make matters easier in many directions."

"You cannot possibly advise me to marry a woman of her birth, however good and charming, madam? Your kind heart surely misleads you there. The Queen would never receive her; could never do so."

"There you are mistaken." The Duchess again repeated the Queen's words, and went on, "I dare not advise you. Who could, in such a matter? But I will ask you a question. Do you believe your Emma to be a bad woman?"

All the gentleman, all the lover in Hamilton spoke in his resolute stateswoman and saw in all that had passed merely a tribute to her own graces, and wrote to that effect to Greville in her next news-letter. It pleased her easy-going good humor to write to him from time to time and relate these trifle. Like many women of her type, past was past with her, and unpleasant associations soon dwindled in a comfortable haze of indifference. He really did not matter particularly to her now, but it was agreeable to her to know how highly placed people considered what he had rejected.

They were naturally not perceptible to the Duchess and she went on quietly with her argument.

"Then, if I take your own word for it, here is a good woman, fallen by pressure of circumstances into a great misfortune. In what does she differ from the charming Clarissa of Richardson's imagination, cruelly ruined but pure in heart? And if it is so, should there not be some repatriation?"

Her long soft eyes dwelt kindly, languidly upon him. His mind hovered a moment over the question: "What is the Duchess to do? Even between Greville and himself, it might be hard to judge! The Duchess knew absolutely nothing of the real facts and her opinion was so much thickened blown on an idle breeze; yet it pleased and touched him where it added to his own wishes. Still, he held out.

"I am no ruffian violator like Lovelace, madam, and with all her generous qualities Emma is no saint like Clarissa."

"Certainly. She is merely a good and trustworthy young woman, a kind-hearted and liberal to a fault. She is the most beautiful creature I ever beheld—but one. Her gifts are surpassing. Taken together they cannot be equaled, and I say so who have seen the world's best for more years than I care to count. So let that slip—let me go too far, my good Sir William. We will not speak of it more."

And though he would willingly have discussed it, for the subject interested him more than anything on earth, her grace held discreetly away, and her talk was of roses, and of scenic, not living beauties, for the rest of the visit, and I say so who have seen the world's best for more years than I care to count. So let that slip—let me go too far, my good Sir William. We will not speak of it more."

looked in the glass. The lines were deepening in his face. His eyes were haggard when he sat up at night. He found those madcap excursions to Capri and Ischia less and less pleasant. When they visited Vesuvius and Emma's quick feet sped nimbly up the steep ways he was compelled to linger behind worn-out and panting. She bloomed into a more luxuriant beauty as he waned. Suppose she wearied of her old lover? Offers from the greatest and wealthiest men of Europe were hers for the taking—would she refuse them forever? And if she went—oh, cold heart and crawling tongue, and loneliness forever?

He could not escape his problem. It confronted him at the palace, when the Queen, business done—for the King was too idle to hear the word, much less endure the thing—asked after the health of the beautiful Mrs. Hart and commented on the Duchess' unfeigned admiration for her. "And who can marvel? Never was a creature so gifted. I had myself the pleasure to meet her at the Villa Colombaia and was ravished indeed. Her beauty is the least of her recommendations. Her talent, manners, tact!" She made an eloquent gesture with her quick hands. "Your taste is immaculate!" she added.

"It was so once, madam," he said with a meaning before which she smiled and blushed a little. It recalled—but royal memories are secret.

"It is so still," she said, and there was a pause, while she trifled with the imperially beautiful roses he had brought her, all curled and pecked with dew. "Sir William considered. He knew the Queen well. Never a word but covered a motive. What was the motive here? Better be frank than fence in vain. She could beat any man at that game. Will your majesty permit me a question?"

"Certainly, Eccellenza. You can ask nothing but what is proper."

A quick smile flashed and was decorously concealed by Sir William's bow.

"Then, madam, what is your Majesty's motive in this graciousness to Mrs. Hart and your humble servant?"

That question could never have been asked nor answered, but for past relations—long past, but impossible to be completely forgotten. The Queen toyed with the heavy purpleweight of the bronze Caligula upon her table before she answered and Hamilton, noting the worn lines in her face, the falsely black tresses which he had once thought so beautiful, remembered Greville's maxim: "Beauty is as a dead passion." How could he ever have cared to waken a gleam in the heavy eye or the tremble of a kiss on the Hapsburg lips which set that family apart from lesser men.

"I will be frank," she said at last. "Why should I not with one of the men who must by the King's right hand in the days I see coming as plainly as I see your face? Your liaison with Mrs. Hart has made difficulties on which I would not dwell, for I would not embarrass my friend by so much as a look. But they are real, and will become more pressing in the days I foresee. I am ignorant whether you know that much mischief has been made for you in high places in England, but in any case you cannot know that I, through Madame de my own, have done my best to protect your interests."

find Mrs. Buzzard, who had been sitting at the foot of a great stump, when she came and left while you were sleeping.

"It is no such thing," replied Jumper, growing very indignant. "I haven't dozed even once. Buzzard hasn't been here, that's all there is to that."

"But she must have been," insisted Peter. "I watched her yesterday and the day before and the day before that and the day before that, and every morning she came over here and went back her nest before this time of day."

"That may be," replied Jumper, "but I tell you she hasn't been here today. Now, if you like the way I keep watch, you keep watch yourself next time."

"I will," said Peter.

So the next morning Peter kept watch over by the tall, dead tree and Jumper kept watch over the stump in the Green Valley.

The same thing happened this time it was Jumper who found out why it was that he hadn't seen Mrs. Buzzard. He insisted that he had been here since before Jolly, round, Mr. Sun had begun his daily up in the blue, blue sky, and he hadn't even so much as noticed her. Of course Jumper can say much. Finally they changed her habits. The fact she had slipped away for breakfast each morning, Peter and Jumper were taking things over by the tall, dead tree. She had known that the keeping watch and so she waited until she got a chance to slip away unobserved. It was a late breakfast but also it was a secret, and that was more important than any breakfast. So Peter and Jumper were no wiser than before.

1874—51 years ago, the islands are annexed by the United States. Captain Cook, the discoverer, discovered the islands as early as 1770. As the country was so fertile, the cannibals, who did not then annex the islands, were very numerous. In 1840 the United States, by the group, which contain 250 islands, was inhabited. In 1859, the islands, having trouble with the United States, appealed to both sides. After several years of war, England finally won.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

ONE WHO FLOATS.

Those who float the mighty, which is the theme of the poem, is a thought, famed all the world; let others vie in adulation, but the poet laureate, who wears a laurel wreath, is a man who lives in love for all. No brother's trust, the poet laureate can glimpse the dust. He is the one who finds some good where others find blame, nor would he passing shade on any name. Although the universe he cannot understand, he knows that only for the sun and systems. As one who floats upon the sea, he knows that the sun and systems. As one who floats upon the sea, he knows that the sun and systems.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTION

To the Point.

A whisk broom is splendid for cleaning stairways. It will get into all corners of both carpet and woodwork and prevent dust accumulating.

Remove Stains First.

Garments should be looked over for stains before putting in wash tubs. Soapy water will remove the stains and measure should be taken to remove the marks before immersing in the suds.

Overhead Cleaning.

There is nothing quite so irritating as to do cleaning overhead. Have the water trickle down your arm. Tie a cloth around your wrist before starting out and protect against this.

Protect the Table.

A piece of oilcloth of the size as the silence cloth for dining room table is a wonderful protection to the wood. Put oilcloth on first, then the silence cloth and finally the table cloth. The table will never be marred by hot dishes or spilled liquids.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

CAN YOU KEEP CONFIDENCE?

TRUST a friend with your purse, but never your past. Let your inmost thoughts or the intimate facts of your life once slip out of your own possession, and they are gone from your control forever!

Forming the habit of keeping your own confidence should be learned as the first lesson of your growth "A-B-C." For unless you can keep your own secrets, you can never be trusted to keep the secrets of another. And unless you are absolutely trustworthy in keeping the confidence which others seem anxious to impart to you, you will get yourself and every one you know in a constant mire of trouble.

Do you have a locked chamber in your mind? A secret drawer where you conceal every confidential thought which ever has been breathed to you, and which never will be dragged out into daylight, no matter what the cause or provocation? Unless you form this practice very young you will find yourself in constant danger of letting out occasional bits of information which should remain buried for life.

Keep your own confidence—regarding what others tell you, and most of all, regarding what you know about yourself. Secrets are usually told in moments of emotional stress or in hours of physical depression. Have you ever confided a thought or fact which later you would give the world to recall? Nearly everyone does that once. But make up your mind not to be one who repeats the indiscretion twice.

The biggest people in all this world are those who know the most about everything and everybody—and who consequently tell the least. To peddle news, promiscuously, is not a sign of smartness. It is proof that you are petty-minded, that your experience is limited and your viewpoint warped. It shows you are long egotism and short on judgment. It stamps you as cheap and small.

Try to discourage others from undressing their souls in your presence. Naked minds are always embarrassing. But if a friend insists upon sharing the secret of her life, guard it as you would a Government bond or the key to your safety deposit vault. She has given you something of herself. You have no right to pass it on.

Earn a reputation for telling only the truth, when you talk, and better yet, of not talking too much at any time. Gossip is the lowest form of malice. Breaking the faith which someone has placed in you is even smaller. A friend's confidence is a precious possession. Prove worthy of its keeping. Remember, many times, silence is platinum!

HOW TO START THE DAY WRONG

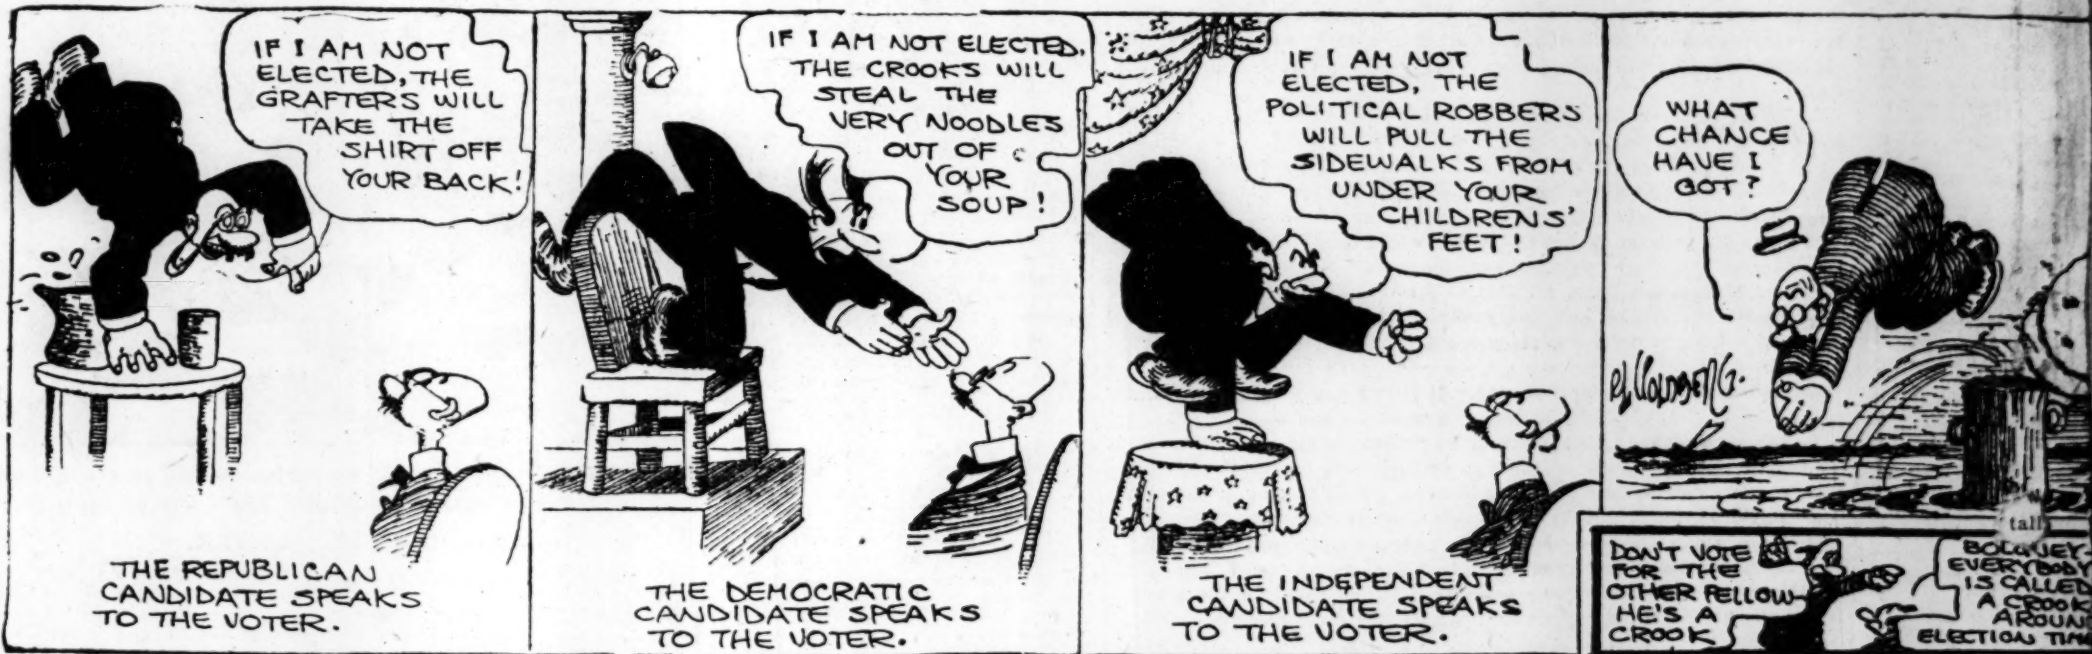

The Man on the Sandbox by L. C. Lam

WERE from St. Louis as you know.
In fact it's not so long ago, we read the Post each sunny day and still do since we've been away.
We're in Miami for the dough. Selling land o'er which you row—We saw your verse about the land. It's pretty good—you get a hand.
Now, if a millionaire you'd be, We'll sell you acreage by the sea. Or in between the sea and gulf Where it is dry and fine for golf.
It's mighty good to hear from home. We miss the place we used to roam;
From Grand and Olive it's a long, long way To Miami Beach across the bay.
—J. H. and R. W.

TOO TRUE.
The man on the sandbox says golden stars are not necessarily cake-eaters. On the contrary they are supposed to be man-eaters.
With the first four teams in either league sharing in the world's series spels, first division now looks like something more than first division.
There's nothing like a little Jack for lifting a ball team out of the ruck.

The melon probably won't be as big as it was last year owing to the exigencies of space, but it will suffice.

The politicians should see to it that there are no conflicting dates between elections and baseball.
"94 Cases Up at Sparta, Ill." How do you get there?
There is one cow to every three persons in seven states of the Middle West. How much are we offered for a third interest in a first-class milch cow?
"Bulgarian Wedding Rites Require More Than Hour." You can be married and divorced in that time over here.
The man on the sandbox says that since 4-year-old kids have taken to wearing long pants, one of Singer's midgets would attract no more attention than a rabbit.
In the meantime the old boys from 40 up have taken to wearing shorts. Ain't human nature funny?
